

One Brave Family Has a Happy 500 Fund Surprise Coming

A 36-year-old woman was deserted by her husband three years ago.

She has three children, 4 to 12, to keep and they live in the upper part of a duplex she rents at $55 a month, plus light and heat.

She gets $122.50 a month from the Victoria welfare department and a family allowance of $22 a month.

She has a struggle to make it go around, but manages to keep the family tidy and adequately fed by getting the occasional baby-sitting job, although a woman with a four-year-old youngster is limited in how much extra she can do. The 12-year-old boy has a paper route.

This brave little family is managing to live and keep up appearances, but the mother dreads the coming of Christmas because she can see no possibility of getting her children any little extras from her meagre income.

But, she has a happy surprise coming, thanks to the generous readers of The Daily Colonist.

She is one of the 500 needy persons who will get a cheque from the Colonist 500 Christmas fund and she will be able to spend it just as she wishes. There is no doubt it will be spent to provide a merry Christmas spirit in a home that otherwise would be bleak-er than usual on Christmas morning.

Donations should be brought to The Daily Colonist offices at 2631 Douglas Street or 1215 Broad Street, or mailed to "The 500 Fund, The Daily Colonist, 2631 Douglas Street, Victoria."

List of donors will be published each day.

Total yesterday stood at $857.19.

River Pilots Tie Up Port

Wildcat Strike Begins

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — A wildcat strike of Fraser River pilots tied up the port of New Westminster at noon yesterday.

Cargoes worth tens of thousands of dollars, ships, longshoremen and shippers are affected by the strike, called by the seven pilots in a dispute with the department of transport over the operation of the pilot boat.

Harbor master Capt. John Clayton said two vessels have been prevented from sailing while two more cannot enter port. Three more ships were expected to be affected later today.

The pilots refused to make a statement except to say they are not on strike.

But a spokesman for the pilotage authority said the men have a "genuine beef."

"In 1957 the department of transport re-classified all pilot vessels as passenger vessels. That necessitated double crews and added expenses which the pilots had to bear."

VANCOUVER (CP) — Japanese mandarin oranges—2,300 tons of them—arrived here Tuesday, the first such load from the Orient this season. Keep Out New Zealand Lamb

Stop U.S. Fruit Dumping B.C.'s Demand to Ottawa

Mother Thinks It's 'Terrible'

TORONTO (UPI) — An angry mother told Judge Ian MacDonnell Tuesday: "I think it's terrible," after the judge had sentenced her son to 18 months in a reformatory.

Ronald Costello, 19, of Toronto, a first-class honor high school student, was given the term for armed robbery.

"A man who breaks into a home at night and holds up a man with a gun—do you think I should give him a prize or something?" replied MacDonnell.

AGRICULTURE MINISTER
NEWTON STEACY

Special Duties Asked

OTTAWA (CP)—British Columbia Tuesday demanded federal government action to protect its fruit and vegetable industries against low-priced imports from the United States.

B.C. also called for protection against imports of New Zealand lamb and mutton to be sold at prices far below locally produced meats.

Agriculture Minister Newton P. Steacy of B.C., at a meeting with federal Agriculture Minister Harkness, presented a brief urging immediate implementation of special duties, CUSTOMS AT

The brief also asked that the Customs Act be amended. "While the horticultural industry in British Columbia feels that some tariff rates . . . are inadequate, they feel that the real solution lies in securing protection against distress sales which have been quite common during the past six or seven years."

The brief said the Customs Act has the force needed to protect crops of prunes, apricots and processed tomatoes and should be proclaimed immediately. SERIOUS RESULTS

"Serious and disastrous results have occurred . . . where perishable agricultural products are concerned," it said.

"Nearly all our British Columbia tomato canneries in the interior of the province have been closed due to U.S. imports." Tomato production had ceased to a large degree.

The B.C. minister said in his brief that he realized there would be fear of reprisal from the U.S., but he had discussed this with horticultural organizations in the province and they saw no reason for such fear.

The B.C. organizations had discussed the situation with horticultural associations on the U.S. west coast and had been assured there would be no opposition to such a Canadian move. Aside from fruits and vegetables, the brief said B.C. also was faced by the importation of New Zealand lamb and mutton, sold at prices lower than B.C. prices. "This is causing great concern and already many of our sheep men are considering going out of business."

Only One Union Jack Still Flies in Ghana

ACCRA, Ghana (Reuters) — Prince Philip Tuesday night presented new flags to a Ghana regiment and watched one of the last symbols of former British rule fade into history.

The prince presented the national flag of red, yellow and green. Then one of the last two Union Jacks in official use in Ghana was marched off the field. The last Union Jack also will soon be replaced.

Instruction to Magistrate

Take It Easy On Policemen

LONDON (Reuters)—A former London magistrate charged Tuesday night that he was instructed while on the bench not to cross-examine policemen giving evidence and not to offend trade unions.

Herbert Malone was commenting on a letter he wrote to The Daily Telegraph in which he said he resigned "in disgust" because of interference from his superiors. He served from 1942 to 1950.

GIVE DETAILS

He said he is prepared to give details of the allegations to Home Secretary R. A. Butler to help him in his government inquiry into relations between the police and public in Britain.

Malone, 69, said he had been instructed by Sir Laurence Dunne, chief Metropolitan London magistrate, not to cross-question any policeman in court, even if he thought the policeman was lying.

AGAINST JUSTICE

"I was supposed to deal privately with him in my room," Malone said. "It's quite against any principles of justice, although most policemen did tell the truth."

"In another instance, after I told a bus driver, as a principle of law decided by a superior court, that he should know the length of his bus, a civil servant at the Home Office told me I must do nothing to offend the trade unions."

LETTER OF PROTEST

"The Home Office had a letter of protest from the transport and general workers union."

VANCOUVER (CP)—A diminutive, elderly woman Tuesday was credited with foiling the first bank holdup here in 14 months.

Wayne King Bach, 22, was arrested in a downtown branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada after the woman customer, who said she did not want to be identified to avoid publicity, quietly told the manager that the man was holding up a teller.

She was in the bank when the man came in and got in line behind her at a teller's cage. As she moved away, the man stepped forward and pushed a brown paper bag toward teller Mrs. Helen Clark. "Fill the bag. There's a gun on you," was printed on the bag.

Mrs. Clark took $383 in bills out of her cash drawer and pushed them and the bag toward the man.

Manager H. I. Jeffrey grabbed the man from behind and held him until police arrived.

VICTORIA (CP) — Highways Minister Gagliardi Tuesday defended officials who closed Vancouver's Lions Gate Bridge Monday while a man was brought down from a perch on the span's south tower. (See other story on Page 12.)

Mr. Gagliardi said the action was justified if it helped save a man's life.

HOPE, B.C. (CP)—Flood waters from mountain streams poured over the Trans-Canada highway and the Canadian Pacific Railway mainline four miles east of this upper Fraser Valley town Tuesday, stopping traffic on both.

Nagged Killer Off Lightly

IPOH, Malaya (Reuters) — After hearing that Lee Joo-ean nagged her husband constantly for 50 years, a court here sentenced Ooi Chye Teik to four years in prison for killing her with an axe.

CAMPBELLTON, N.B. (CP) — Federal government policies are responsible for tight money and record high interest rates, Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson said Tuesday night in his final address of a Nova Scotia and New Brunswick tour.

A government "pledged to reduce spending" had made record expenditures of about $1,000,000,000 more than in the last year of Liberal administration.

"Then, because government spending has been far greater than its income, we have these huge deficits which have had to be met by large government borrowings and which have placed an enormous strain on the funds available." In its first 15 months in office, Mr. Pearson said, the Conservative government borrowed $1,100,000,000. If "tight money" did not develop at that time, it was because money supply was increased by this amount.

Toledo Liked Malls But Problems Stayed

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Toledo's experimental malls, in general, produced a favorable attitude on the part of the public but made no significant change in shopping habits, a survey shows.

The four downtown malls were made into regular streets again last weekend after a 3½-month test.

Peter W. Rogers, president of Rogers National Research, said yesterday his study showed that parking and traffic still are basic problems. (The plan did not provide extra off-street parking as would a proposed Victoria plan.)

According to his survey, 64 per cent of the public felt the

Alberta Won't Alter Status Of Unions

Mr. Rierson commented before the annual meeting of the Alberta Social Credit League on a resolution asking that unions be made subject to suit.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

SUDDENLY I feel proud of myself.

"A vacuum-cleaner salesman called at my house, and failed to sell me a machine," said a lady. "The salesman told me that I was one of his impossible cases. High sales resistance. He said I was just as bad as Mortimore."

"Boy!" I said. "You mean he cited me as a rock-bound sales resister?"

"Yes," she confirmed. "He said you knew what you could afford, that you didn't have the money, and that you just weren't going to buy a vacuum cleaner."

"I know the salesman you mean," I recalled. "A good man, but an optimist. He's been back two or three times."

"You're one of his prize cases, anyway," she said.

"That body-ash routine that he uses is a real killer, too," I said. "Of course it's a standard gimmick with that company. You know how—he runs the vacuum cleaner over your mattress, gathers up a fair amount of gandruff which has been embedded in the cloth, and dumps it in a revolting little pyramid on the rug."

"Sick-making," the lady said. "He used that at our house."

"And then," I added, "the salesman patters along, about the way your skin is constantly flaking off, and he points to the pile of nasty stuff and says: 'Look who's been sharing your bed all the time, and you didn't know he was there. Sharing the couch with a body. Of course you don't want this to continue. I'll leave the vacuum cleaner now, but you don't have to make your first payment until Friday.'"

"Oh yes," I said. "It sells a lot of vacuum cleaners, the disgust pitch."

"It didn't work on me," the lady said. "Nor me," I boasted. "Maybe the salesman put a chalk mark on my gate, the way the gypsies are supposed to do—a mark saying 'Stingy ape and deadbeat lives here.' Don't waste your time."

"But on the other hand," I speculated, "if I become known as the salesman's nemesis, the appliance companies may start sending their salesmen along to bark their knuckles on me, for training."

"Maybe at last I'll get my name and a picture of my house in a sales text book, as a horrible example. But it's dangerous to get over-confident. While I am heroically standing off the heavy-handed salesmen at the front door, some low-pressure little man may sneak in the side door and foist a vacuum cleaner on me with a sympathy pitch."

"Sometimes the timid, feckless-looking little salesman is the deadliest of all."

Stiffer Fine For Cruelty Disallowed

Appeal against a $10 fine as not enough of a deterrent against cruelty to animals was dismissed by Judge J. B. Clearhue in higher court Monday.

Appeal was launched by the Crown, following a guilty plea by Ernest Kay, Sooke Road, to a charge of killing a terrier by striking it over the head with a blunt instrument.

The charge was laid in Colwood police court Sept. 11 by Wing Cmdr. Philip Wilkinson on behalf of the SPCA.

Prosecutor Kenneth Murphy had protested that the $10 fine levied then by Magistrate A. I. Thomas was "not enough."

The charge was laid under the summary convictions procedure of the Criminal Code, which provide a maximum penalty of $500 or in default six months in jail, but which imposes no minimum penalty.

Fired Clerk Held For TCA Slaying

TORONTO (CP)—A youthful clerk fired by Trans-Canada Air Lines a month ago has been charged with murder in the rifle-slaying Tuesday of James Beverly Wright, 30, chief clerk of TCA operations. John Hartford, 19, was arrested at home in nearby Port Credit after police pleaded with him to give himself up. A .22-calibre rifle was seized at the home.

Wright died instantly from three bullets fired into his chest as he was about to enter the TCA operations building at suburban Malton Airport.

Airport police received a telephone call shortly after the shooting from a man who told them to "come and get me."

Det. Sgt. Mel Simmons of Toronto Township police said that when he and a group of officers went to the Hartford home a youth opened the door, slammed it shut, then yelled:

"You'll have to come in and get me."

Inspector Charles Robinson twice telephoned the house and the youth answered the second time. The inspector told him it would be foolish to try to resist and that police would use guns if he didn't come out.

A few minutes later Hartford's brother Bruce, 16, walked out of the house, leaving the front door open. Police went inside and found the suspect in the cellar. He offered no resistance.

Floods Receding; Damage Colossal

SEATTLE (AP)—Flood waters receded slowly in the Puget Sound Basin Tuesday but hundreds remained homeless and thousands of acres of rich dairy and truck farmland still were under water.

Highway travel through the Cascades was sharply restricted. Trains of all major rail lines continued to be diverted south to Portland around the flood-slide area.

A wealthy Ellensburg, Wash., meat packer, George

Schaake, was feared dead—second victim of the weekend weather disaster.

Loss in the floods, worst in 25 years, was counted in the millions of dollars. Coast guardsmen and sheriff's deputies patrolled flood areas to prevent looting.

Giving Up Driving City Man Tells Court

A city driver let it be known in city police court yesterday he's through with driving.

Charles M. Thompson, 2210 Sayward, pleaded guilty to impaired driving. Police said his car sideswiped another vehicle on Pandora near Chambers during the weekend, causing a second collision.

Court was told that accused had stated his intention to stop driving.

Magistrate William Ostler made it official: "You'll be fined $250, and your licence will be suspended."

Also in city court Diana Lambert, 723 Yates, was given a suspended sentence under bond of $250 for six months, after an earlier plea of guilty to theft of an overcoat and pair of glasses.

Magistrate Ostler told the accused of the trouble such behavior and bad companions could lead her into, and ordered as condition of her sentence that she make her home with her parents on the mainland, get employment, and obey instructions of the probation officer.

In Saanich court Barry Arthur Pass, 20, of 2891 Murray Drive, was fined $15 when he pleaded guilty to being a minor in possession of liquor. Police had found a bottle of beer in the glove compartment of his car.

"There are altogether too many of you young men coming into court on this charge," said Magistrate Ostler. "If it continues the penalty will have to be more severe."

He Lost Two Fish Boats Then Job, Home and Life

VANCOUVER (CP)—Luck ran out on Bob Allen during the weekend.

Allen was burned to death when he attempted to escape from his burning flat in North Vancouver.

His wife said Tuesday it was third time unlucky for the unemployed man.

He narrowly missed being burned to death in a fire that destroyed a fish float years ago and he almost drowned when his fish boat sank two years later.

"I guess his luck just ran out this time," Mrs. Allen said.

Death, Terror Strike

Air Crash Kills Ten

CHICAGO (AP)—Ten persons perished Tuesday in the crash of a TWA cargo plane in a residential neighborhood near Chicago's Midway Airport. The dead included the three crew members, a newly-married couple, and a mother and her five-months-old baby.

The plane plowed through four homes and an apartment house and then exploded bringing death and terror to the neighborhood.

The plane, out of control and with its engines sputtering, was trying to return to Midway Airport after taking off for Los Angeles a few minutes before. It crashed three blocks short of its goal on Chicago's populous southwest side.

The plane struck the roof of a two-storey home, ripping off the chimney. Then it spun across the street, shattered the corner of a two-storey brick home and tore the roof away from a neighboring home.

Careening nearly a block farther, the plane tore out the back wall of a building housing six apartments, exploded and landed in a sea of flame across the street. The dwelling collapsed.

"It seemed like the end of the world," several residents of the neighborhood said.

Burning gasoline showered down on adjoining homes, garages and parked cars, setting them afire. Terrified residents ran into the streets in night clothing.

One of the injured, George Mehalov, 57-year-old mechanic, didn't even know parts of the plane had hit his home until firemen told him while taking him to the hospital. Mehalov's wife, son and daughter are among the missing.

"I heard the explosion and saw the bedroom roof caving in," he sobbed. "I don't know how I got out or what happened to my family."

The plane, carrying passengers including mail, arrived in Chicago from New York.

It took off for Los Angeles at 5:20 a.m. Five minutes later and only a few miles away, the plane made a radio request for permission to return. The electric clock on the plane's instrument panel, recovered in the wreckage, was stopped at 5:37 o'clock.

British Columbia's Crest

IF British Columbia's coat of arms is to be revised with a view to replacing the lion by a sea otter, perhaps the motto could be examined also. "Splendor sine occasu" has defied the best of Latin scholars to find for it a reasonably appropriate meaning, or one that has real bearing on the westernmost Province in Canada. Its translation has been given in several versions, of which one of the most quoted is that it could mean: "Magnificence without lessening." That, too, has been contested, and there have been many scholars to say that the official motto is a combination of doubtful Latin and poor taste.

When one gets right down to it, what is wrong with the Lion in the emblem? It is crested and surmounting the traditional crown of heraldry. There might never have been a British Columbia if Great Britain had not established the two pioneer crown colonies here in the latter part of the nineteenth century. It seems a little late in the day to move for the elimination of what is perhaps the most authentic bit about British Columbia's crest. One has no objection to sea otters as such, but few of British Columbia's early white settlers ever saw one. They were hunted virtually into extinction a few years after their discovery by the fur trade. Some may remain but they must by now be as scarce as sea serpents.

Other provinces in Canada acknowledge their roots in their authorized crests, with Halifax a case in point. British Columbia's emblem appears to have been put together in a hurry, and not perhaps out of the best material available. For a century, however, British Columbians have put up with it. If it is to be altered now why not hold open competition for the best design that will acknowledge our past, preserve B.C.'s distinctive features, and say something—in Latin if necessary—that will have some meaning? "Magnificence" is all very well, but it is proving difficult to live up to.

Miniature Belt Line

THE proposal to run a B.C. Electric bus, perhaps two, in a downtown circle during December at a flat five cents fare is something new on the local scene. It comes as refreshing if only because few imaginative proposals are put forth in the operation of buses. In this instance the circuit would be underwritten by local businessmen and the proposal is therefore much to their credit.

One downtown lack for foot passengers, and nearly everyone is forced to park the car and walk in order to get from one store to another, is that of fare zones. The one-man operation of buses makes zoning fares impracticable—and two-man buses would force present fares up—but the corollary to this is that few persons will pay 13 cents merely to travel a few blocks. At a nickel a ride the temptation to use the bus might be overpowering.

This new idea of a round-robin bus service in the heart of the city, even if only for the Christmas season, should spark some fresh thoughts on the subject of city buses. The circular route invites realization that the belt line serves the widespread Greater Victoria area. It suggests also that a back-and-forth run along Douglas Street itself, the main line of the town, might be worth B.C. Electric consideration. At a five-cent fare there should be considerable potential passenger traffic if the bus went from say Humboldt to Herald and back again.

The one flaw in the business-backed bus proposal is that the route is too circumscribed. A circle of Douglas, Fort, Government and Yates hardly seems wide enough for most downtown shoppers. This takes in only a very few blocks, so few that many shoppers might prefer to walk. A wider circle seems more desirable to attract enough passengers to make the venture pay, or at least keep down the subsidy the retail merchants group is prepared to underwrite. It is a nice Christmas gesture on the part of the merchants nevertheless.

Five-Hour Wait

THE traffic jam which originated at a Vancouver bridge this week, while authorities tried (successfully) to persuade a man not to commit suicide, may be one of those signs of the future which cast shadows beforehand. British Columbia has 500,000 registered motor vehicles now, approximately one for every three people in population. Of necessity traffic concentration comes at the larger centres, and if Victorians think they have a traffic problem its drivers have yet to be held up for five hours on any occasion. Notwithstanding that, more than 43,000 motor vehicles are registered in the Greater Victoria area; and they drive in long queues on occasions.

The same difficulties probably affect all cities in this connection. As more and more cars are added to the traffic streams there will be less and less room for manoeuvre. At some saturation point the cities of the future will likely have to ban entry of private traffic into their hubs. That suggests vast parking areas on the peripheries, and the eventual use of public transit systems to get into town. In the long run, perhaps, a saturation point of human settlement may also come for great cities, and a gradual process of decentralization commence to relieve the tightening cords of sheer mass movement.

Victoria is a long way from experiencing any such state of congestion. With more than forty thousand vehicles on the streets, however, it has daily and hourly problems of its own. These will be fewer if motorists and pedestrians alike obey the rules of the game. The public as a whole must recognize emergency runs by police, fire and ambulance vehicles. It is senseless that men speeding to the relief of fellow citizens, for want of thought on the part of those who use the streets. Mass movement of vehicles is something else again; yet even there this city is having plenty of warning in the customary five o'clock "rush hour". Less rush and more courtesy would work wonders.

Trade Deficit Warning

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

THE United States has told its European and Asian allies that the horn of plenty is running low. Not low enough as yet to be a danger to the American economy, but enough to bring about a serious reappraisal of U.S. military and foreign aid expenditures and for the U.S. to tell its allies that they now must help to shoulder some of the burdens formerly borne by it almost alone.

The result has been that in world capitals from Tokyo to London, other governments also have faced up to a reappraisal and with unanimity have decided that the United States has carried the burden long enough. They will help.

Since 1949, with the exception of one year, the United States has had a trade deficit with other nations which by the middle of this year had reached a staggering total of nearly $15,000,000,000.

Accompanying the deficit has been a flow of gold away from the United States totalling nearly $5,000,000,000.

It has been a cause for growing concern for the reason that no nation can exist forever on a deficit and that an unbroken outflow of gold eventually must be reflected in reduced faith in the U.S. dollar.

So it was for these reasons that under-secretary of state Douglas Dillon warned in a speech last month that either other nations must put their financial shoulders to the wheel or face the possibility the U.S. would take steps to protect itself.

In their extreme, these steps could mean a return to high U.S. tariffs and the development of a kind of economic isolationism.

The warning was aimed at those nations who have received unstintingly of U.S. aid, while at the same time erecting barriers against U.S. goods to protect their own recovering economies.

And it pointed up the inequality of a situation in which the U.S., in 1959 alone, suffered a $4,000,000,000 trade deficit while others prospered. Some nations were quick to take the hint.

Japan, Britain and France announced moves to lift restrictions against the "made in U.S.A." label.

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

VICTOR Hugo said that popularity was glory's small change, but how we all love a share of this coinage. We would rather be liked than disliked.

Pity then the poor professional sports coach. Nobody likes him unless his team wins. His is perhaps the most hazardous job of all. He can be a hero today and, in the vernacular of his trade, a "bum" tomorrow. Obviously he can't have changed character in 24 hours but such is the fickleness of sport that unless he guides his club to the top or near the top he becomes the object of abuse.

One would think almost that he played his club's games and not the players who take the field. To a great degree nowadays of course he does, especially in big-time football and baseball. These are not games so much as strategic battles, with the coach as the commander-in-chief.

Hockey by comparison is individualistic, more being left to the initiative and instinctive skill of the players, but even here a coach's life is uncertain. Offhand I can think of half a dozen Cougar coaches in the past nine or ten years.

The coach thus so easily becomes the villain of the piece. Once the chief object of derision was the referee—he still would be unwise to enter a popularity contest—but the emphasis of disfavor is now cast on the coach.

Logic would suggest that a coach shouldn't be expected to be a miracle worker. It would seem normal that he should be given time to build up a team over a few years, nursing it along until it works harmoniously and successfully together. Or that if he takes it to the top of the league one year he shouldn't be faulted if the honor escapes him the next year.

In short, that he should be judged over a decent period of time. Professional sport is of course big business. Sometimes it is more than that. When it comes to Canadian football it may be likened to a circus with rival ringmasters. So at least a one-time hockey great suggested in Vancouver the other day in assessing this particular sport. It was hoopla, and little else, I gathered. And a winning team was the only criterion.

Certainly it is in the football ranks that coaches come and go like annual birthdays. Once it was the head that wore the crown that was deemed uneasy, but now it is the head that directs a football squad.

What all this amounts to, obviously, is that the ball-and-end-all of a professional sports team is to win. Nobody stops to realize that if every club had to be the winning one there would be nobody left to play against.

It is nice to win, of course, and excepting only the B.C. Lions—whose supporters deserve a medal even if they too chop and change their coaches—most fans grow apathetic if their favorites keep on losing.

Yet the emphasis on winning, and the apparent cold-blooded treatment of professional sports coaches, does suggest that the playing of the game is of secondary importance. I doubt this is really a happy state of affairs; it breeds also in supporters the thesis—win or lose.

Actually people should go to a game, a sports game, to be pleased and entertained by the game itself rather than the result per se. This may be too idealistic an approach in these hard-boiled times, but it is the best one nevertheless.

Anyway, my heart bleeds for the coaches, so readily dismissed on the whim of defeat. Or it would if there didn't seem always to be a lineup for the job.

Playing With Dynamite

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

FIDEL CASTRO of Cuba is playing with dynamite—American Congressional dynamite. Not even the stoic patience of the state department is likely to save him from being blown right out of office by his own recklessness unless he draws back soon from his shrilly abusive course toward the United States.

This two-bit (or half-peso) dictator is nearing the point of no return. The whole position toward Castro here is now changing. It is increasingly probable that Congress will return in January determined to take counteraction that could easily destroy his revolutionary regime.

True, the state department will try to discourage this sort of thing. But as it happens the critical power here does not lie with the administration. Nor does it lie with the Congressional committee on foreign policy, which normally will follow any administration lead.

It lies instead with two fairly hard-boiled groups which are never unduly impressed by "State"—and which are fed to the teeth with Fidel Castro. These are the finance committee of the United States Senate and the committee on agriculture of the House of Representatives.

They have it within their choice to cut off Cuba's rich sugar-exporting quota to the United States. This quota not only guarantees a stable market to the Cubans but also gives them a price pegged above the world price. The sugar quota is at the heart of Cuba's life. Not even the most stirring of "great revolutionary leaders" is excessively popular at home once his policies bring joblessness and economic ruin.

Congress alone can decide

Our Crown Companies

(From The Ottawa Journal)

IF, as reported, we are to have more superintendence of Crown companies by committees of Parliament, then a good thing.

For there has been altogether too much of a "hands-off" attitude towards Crown companies, certainly too much talk of their being free of "interference by politicians."

Politicians are the people we elect to run the business of this country. If that doesn't mean an eye kept by them on such business of the country as Crown companies, bodies set up with public monies, spending public monies, then our political system is in too great a degree meaningless.

Some day somebody may make a study and survey of what this country has lost through politically illiterate talk about keeping the "hands of politicians" out of this or that, speaking of the people we choose to represent as though they were lepers.

Time Canadians grew up about such matters, got to know what their political system is about, where lies responsibility for their government.

The Journal, for its part, will welcome any look the politicians may take at our companies. It hopes they will take a good, long, hard look—a look hard, long and good enough to knock out the too popular notion that Crown companies should be little principalities on their own; sacrosanct.

Working Off Energy

By GREGORY CLARK

AN ELDERLY psychologist who went to school with me, and is therefore riper than some of these younger fellows who are wound up in that eerie profession like kittens in the knitting, has been telling me that the trouble with the teen-age generation is purely physical. They aren't getting enough exercise.

Rock 'n' roll, he says, is mere gymnastics urgently inspired by the need of kids to work off their energy. We elders, sitting around worrying, forget that when we were the age of these youngsters, we had to walk to school; and schools, in our day, weren't just around every corner. No sir, they were ten, twenty blocks away. Or in the country, they were three miles away, winter and summer; and not only were there no buses to pick the darlings up, there weren't any parents crazy enough to hitch up the horse and cutter and drive the kids to school, even in blizzards.

There was wood to be carried in, coal to be carried up in the scuttle, twice a day. There were ashes to put out and chores to attend to. There were errands to run, every day, sometimes in the morning before starting to school, and always in the afternoon, after school; down to the grocers, the butchers, the bakers. Only swells had telephones.

And play, in those days, didn't consist of twenty kids on the high school team, and the rest of us sitting on our behinds on the sidelines. Has anybody seen anybody playing hide and go seek lately or folly taw, buck, hock, how many fingers up, or leap frog? Has anybody seen any fights on the way home from school?

No? Well, what else can the poor kids do with their energy than jitter one way or another?

than to act. For nothing could be as bad as for the United States to confirm the existing notion that no conceivable insult will be effectively resisted here. This kind of posture would lead to the justifiable conclusion all through Pan America that the one sure way to a permanently-guaranteed favorable treatment by the U.S. would be to be always at the very forefront of its abusers and enemies.

This is not "dollar diplomacy." Nor is it any jingo attitude. Nobody here argues that we are always right in our difficulties with our Latin-American neighbors. We are, for illustration, far from spotless in regard to Panama. Anti-American feeling there is in part understandable.

But the point simply is that nobody can possibly be the kind of "good neighbor" Castro wants. For he wants to walk all over us, in the happy belief that we are too big to retaliate, while we continue to support his economy—and thus him.

A Sigh for Victoria

I WOULD like to tell you how very much I enjoy reading the Colonist, to which I now subscribe regularly instead of to the local papers. The editorials are always apt and thought-provoking, and the news-coverage is cosmopolitan and comprehensive, and there is a lack of "village-mindedness" noticeable in newspapers of some other cities. Having lived in B.C. for nearly 20 years until 1944 when I came up here, and having been out there every two years since that time, my heart is still in Victoria, and I am bending every effort to return there to live. However, as I am not in the youthful age-bracket, and unfortunately have to work for a living, I must "gang warily" in making the move.

I was deeply impressed by a recent fine article on the international situation by Maj.-General Macklin. I would like to have seen a sequel. He was so right in claiming that nuclear power is not the answer.

I do hope that "Rabbie's" status is not going to be removed from the park in any scheme for a fountain. Please, please don't take him away! Here in this city we haven't even got a Burns monument!

Juvenile delinquency seems to be quite a problem in Greater Victoria, and this surprises me. Having acted as a probation officer here for six years I was interested in plans for a family court, and you certainly are on the right road, for that is where prevention of delinquency begins. We started a family court here several years ago.

In my homesickness for Victoria I constantly hum to myself a song composed by the late Sir Hugh Robertson, called "Westering Home":

"Where are the folk like the folk of the West?
Canty and couthy and kind wif the best;
There I will hie me, and there I will rest,
At hame wif my ain folk in . . ."

Where else—but in dear beautiful Victoria, and I hope, soon!
OLIVE G. CARE,
Ste. 4, 932 2nd Ave. N.W.,
Calgary, Alta.

P.S.: I should add that my former B.C. home was in that—other city on Burrard Inlet formerly known as Granville, or "Gastown." Had it been Victoria, of course, I would never have left!

Mutual Fund Changes Hands

Shareholders in Dark

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

During the past few years this column has dealt at some length on the subject of mutual funds, and has noted the particular success that has attended the operations of the Vancouver-managed and owned All-Canadian Fund.

This fund is widely held in the B.C. area, and several readers have expressed surprise that in recent weeks control has changed hands without prior warning being given to the shareholders.

Previously managed by Capital Management Corporation, with Pemberton Securities as its major holder, with its advisors, D. W. Mitchell and Arthur Phillips, holding a minority position.

NEW MANAGEMENT

The new management is Capital Management Ltd. and 65 per cent owned by Power Corporation of Canada, while Pemberton Securities hold 7½ per cent and Messrs. Mitchell and Phillips the remainder.

Questioned yesterday Mr. Mitchell said that the shareholders had not been consulted on the change of management, but he admitted that it was within the power of the shareholders to throw management out if they did not like it.

But Mr. Mitchell thinks the shareholders will like the change.

SEVERAL REASONS

"We took the step for several reasons," said Mr. Mitchell. "The chief was to broaden our appeal in Eastern Canada. Hitherto we have been a Vancouver operation, and the sale of All-Canadian Funds have been small elsewhere."

He added that with the addition of W. A. Arbuckle, described as a professional director, and of P. Thomson and N. Peers of Power Corporation to the board of management, All-Canadian Funds might find a much wider market in the east.

Mr. Mitchell said that the operation of the fund however will not change, "The portfolio will still be in the hands of Mr. Phillips and myself."

He also expressed the view securities are important holdings of All-Canadian Fund, and Power Corporation of Canada, which now controls All-Canadian is also a large shareholder in B.C. Power.

Try Plow, Nikita

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI)—Iran's prime minister Manouchehr Eghbal suggested yesterday that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev go back to plowing.

"Moscow Radio said I was a political failure and ought to return to plowing, my old profession," Eghbal said. "In the United States Khrushchev bragged he was once a peasant. Well, from my point of view, he is not a success at his present job, wherefore I say he ought to revert to his old profession."

How can I find peace of mind?

Second Challenge Hurlled at Smith

Conditions of Meeting 'Circus,' Says Edgelow

A second challenge to mayoralty candidate J. Donald Smith to replace insinuations about city property dealings with specific claims was issued yesterday by Ald. Arthur Dowell.

The new challenge came after Mr. Smith accepted Ald. Dowell's invitation to appear before council to back up suggestions of "suspicious" land dealings, but attached five conditions, including that he be given 1½ hours to speak at an evening meeting.

Ald. Dowell again asked Mr. Smith to appear at Thursday's regular council meeting, and said that "if he has any facts to substantiate his insinuations, I'll immediately insist on an investigation."

These were the developments, as they occurred yesterday.

Pay Cost of a Hall

He said he would be pleased to pay the cost of a large hall, over and above a collection. "If you consider this desirable,"

Mr. Smith also said council was welcome to attend the meeting tonight in the lower ballroom of the Crystal Garden, sponsored by the Victoria Civic Voters' Association.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow quickly accepted: "I will accept the invitation to attend the Smith meeting and will request an opportunity to answer his charges after he speaks," he said.

Ald. Dowell said he saw "no necessity for a spectacle" and started drafting another letter to Mr. Smith challenging him again to appear Thursday.

"This is a personal matter between Mr. Smith and myself," he said. "I have been chairman of the lands committee for six years. I am familiar with every property transaction, and there's not the slightest suspicion attached to any one of them. I consider my reputation for honesty is at stake."

Ald. M. H. Mooney said Mr. Smith was "making statements in a shady manner and not being straightforward—making half statements that the public can interpret two ways." Ald. D. J. Proudfoot said he was "quite willing to meet Mr. Smith anywhere and at any time if he'll keep to facts and quote names. When I make statements I have the courage to state facts or keep my mouth shut—not innuendos."

Time to Dispel Poison

Ald. Edgelow said Mr. Smith should accept the challenge to appear at a regular council meeting—"It would be wrong to turn this into a circus." And, he said, "it's time any poison that might be put into anyone's mind by Mr. Smith should be brought out and aired to the fullest."

Mayor Percy Scurrell said that "all we want him to do is appear before council and substantiate, if he can, what he has said by innuendo. The press will be present and everything will be public. I'm quite sure council will be willing to give him sufficient time to present his case."

The VCVA, advertising its meeting at 8 tonight, announced:

"All issues in this campaign will be clearly dealt with and at this time we shall present to the public, to the council and, if they are interested, to the local press, a full substantiation of the charge that the Victoria city council, under the mayor's leadership, has been guilty of wrongful conduct, incompetent conduct, or both; and the reasons why an enquiry under oath is in the vital interest of every taxpayer."

Former mayor Claude L. Harrison will be chairman of the meeting, and the four aldermanic candidates endorsed by the association will speak in addition to Mr. Smith. They are Bruce Passmore, John D. Carlow, Victor W. Williams and Alan E. Bigelow.

Mr. C Means Khrushchev In Germany

TOKYO (AP)—How do you spell Khrushchev?

Depends a good deal on where you live, the magazine Shukan Asahi has discovered. It came up with these spellings:

Kroutchev (France), Chruschtschow (Germany), Chruschew (Netherlands), Krushchiov (Italy), Krushchev (Spain), Khrushchev (Israel), Khrushov (Norway), Krustjev (Sweden), Hrushtchev (Finland), Chruszow (Poland), Kruscov (Yugoslavia) and Chruscov (Czechoslovakia).

In Japanese it's Hu-ru-shi-cho-hu, in six phonetic signs. The Chinese Communists write his name "brilliant Russian daybreak man" in four ideographic characters and pronounce it Four-lo-hsiao-fu.

Incidentally, the Russians, when writing his name in the Latin alphabet, use Khrushchev.

BEHIND THE GLASS

By Jim Tang

Directors of the Victoria Curling Club, who would have been busy enough wrestling with the usual problems which come up and making the usual decisions necessary in club operation, have put in extra time this season in making two major decisions—to purchase new rocks and to support by joining the fledgling Pacific Coast Curling Association. And they still have to face up to the biggest problem of all—what to do about a serious decline in active membership.

It's something which can no longer be avoided. Despite the addition of more than 20 new members this season, only 55 men's rinks, and not all of these have four players, and 15 ladies' rinks are curling in the regular club draws.

These are figures which require thought and demand action. At one time no difficulty was anticipated in getting the maximum of 96 club rinks that an eight-sheet curling rink can handle. And, if memory serves, the figure did approach 90 rinks in at least one season and there was at least one Saturday night draw.

Because all rinks weren't complete and because many members showed a reluctance to curl Saturday nights, it was decided to limit club rinks to 80 and operate on a five-nights-a-week schedule, at least until such time as there would be a demand for active membership which would require six nights of club curling.

Not only hasn't this demand materialized but active membership has reached a new low. The fact that the club is 10 rinks shy of filling a reduced schedule is a shocker which requires immediate attention.

There have to be reasons, none of which would appear to be any loss of interest in curling by Victorians. There has been no corresponding drop in the number of curlers renting ice, a check yesterday disclosing that, including student curlers, more than 300 rinks are taking part in league play.

The trouble, then, must be elsewhere. It could be in the fact that club membership costs $100 and it could be in the type of club draw being used. The opinion here is that both have contributed to the decline in active membership with clubs draws probably more to blame.

A five-nights-a-week schedule makes it virtually impossible to set up a satisfactory club draw. Many a week curlers find themselves playing their two club games a night apart and then having to wait six days before they are drawn again. This obviously is a situation bound to kill interest, particularly in a town like Victoria where so many people have more than one interest and are not prepared to give one full-time preference over another.

The promotion-relegation system after each seven games has also failed to create expected interest and draw changes twice every seven weeks have further complicated matters.

Almost all curlers would prefer regular curling nights for the season and many others have said that while they can not spare the time to curl twice weekly they would welcome a chance to play regularly once a week. This brings the thought that league curling, which appears to have worked at Duncan, might be the answer here.

That's only one suggestion. Perhaps it isn't a good one but it is obvious that something has to be tried. The problem is a serious one.

It will be a long time before curlers stop referring to the Canadian championships as "The Brier" but as of now, the playoff for the Macdonald's Brier Tankard is officially the Canadian curling championship.

This was brought about last week in Montreal, where an agreement was reached between the sponsoring company and the Dominion Curling Association which gives the DCA control of the Canadian final. The Tankard will remain emblematic of the Dominion title and the event will continue under the same sponsorship as it has since its inception in 1927 but the DCA will be in charge. Final details will be worked out at the 1960 championships, which begin March 7 at Fort William.

EXTRA END: Directors of the Victoria club have decided against summer skating after discussing an offer from the Victoria Figure Skating Club. . . . Eric Smeaton provided a welcome sight at the club this week. The veteran, who had planned to play four games a week, took ill just before the start of the season but claims he will be back in action after the New Year. . . . The Vancouver Island Consols playdowns have been set back one week because of a conflict in dates with the Duncan bonspiel. The semi-finals are now set for Jan. 16 and 17 and the finals the following weekend. . . . The annual Commercial Bonspiel at the Victoria club will again start on Boxing Day with a 96-rink limit, three events and a $16-per-rink charge. . . . Curling at the Victoria club will end this season on April 3 with the club championship the last event. . . . Steve Hayhurst skipped Norm Richardson, Lillian Walls and V. Pelletier to a win in the "shorty" bonspiel Saturday. His rink bested Joe Leibel, Donna Taylor, Jim McPherson and Lotie White in the final. . . . The consolation final was won by Gary, Marie and Judy Leibel and Bill Purdy, who combined to best Al and Betty Bishop, Rolfe Mercer and Molly Bedington in the final.

Brier Rink Still Unbeaten; Cook, Stone Clash Today

VANCOUVER—Last year's B.C. Brier rink, the Barry Naimark Vancouver Club foursome and three other rinks boast 6-0 records after two days' play in the $9,000 Totem Bonspiel here.

Along with the Naimark rink in the unbeaten ranks are those skipped by Charlie Cook, Dana Quinell and Jack Arnet, all from Vancouver.

The Cook rink, with Bruce Bennett third, Jack Hall second and Wilf Blackmore lead, appears to be the strong rink however, Tuesday they knocked over two previously unbeaten rinks to follow up their upset victory over pre-bonspiel favorite Reg Stone of Trail.

The Stone-Cook battle is not over as the pair are expected to meet in a late draw today in a second primary event. A Cook victory would eliminate Stone from the major competitions and reverse the 1958 Totem play when Stone edged Cook twice en route to an unblemished 11-game streak and victories in both primaries and the grand aggregate.

While always a contender, Cook has never been able to go all the way in previous bonspiels and provincial play-offs.

Naimark with the same rink which last year won its way to the Dominion final—vice-skip Fred Langen, second Evan Wolfe and lead Dick Beddoes.

The trend of play almost assures that no rink will duplicate Stone's 1958 feat of winning both primary events and, of course, the coveted Grand Aggregate. Stone, however, is still running for Grand Aggregate honors with his 5-1 record, a showing duplicated by former B.C. champions Frank Avery and Bung Cartmell and Bert Robertson of Edmonton.

Two Victoria rinks, entered by Larry Marshall and Tony Gutoski, 1958 B.C. champion, remained alive in the Evergreen (second primary) event. Gutoski, who also scored a win in the Seymour event yesterday, knocked Vancouver's Buck Glover out of the unbeaten class with a 9-7 decision in third-round play. Marshall eased to a 14-2 win over Patrick of Vancouver.

Dave Dunn of Nanaimo, unbeaten after two days, lost his first game when he took a 12-1 trimming from Arnet.

Gar Taylor of Victoria remained alive in the Totem (Grand Challenge) event with a 14-4 trouncing of Jack Glover of Ashcroft but suffered his second setback of the bonspiel in the Vancouver event when he was nosed out, 7-6, in an extra end by Keith Deacon of New Westminster.

Bill McLellan, fourth Victoria entrant, lost twice Tuesday. He was beaten, 15-9, by Jack Diabhorn of Vancouver in the Pacific event and 10-9 by Al Kerslake of Vancouver in the Vancouver event.

CHRISTMAS TREE TROPHY

At the 19th Hole

Colonist Golf Event Boxing Day Feature

By HARRY YOUNG

The sixth annual Daily Colonist Christmas Tree tournament will be played this year on Boxing Day, Saturday, Dec. 26. The men will play at Victoria Golf Club, and the ladies at Uplands.

Now firmly established as balm for Victoria's most popular winter golf event, the Christmas Tree tournament attracts a wide entry, and so far it has been blessed with favorable weather conditions.

As in the past the Hudson's Bay Company is co-operating with the Daily Colonist so that every participant will receive a traditional first tee present from Santa Claus.

The competition is open to amateur golfers with recognized club handicaps.

BY MAIL ONLY

An entry form will appear in The Daily Colonist, Dec. 16, and all applications must be made by mail. Entries delivered to the Colonist office will not be entertained.

The entry is limited to 96 players at each course, and the fee, which includes green fees and buffet is $5.

Winner of the men's gross award for the past three years in succession is Dr. George Bigelow. Other winners were Frank Scroggs and Bill McColl.

The Uplands membership gave Bob Williams a standing ovation and made him a life member at the annual meeting last week. It was a tribute magnificently deserved for Bob who has served the club faithfully and well for nine years as president and has been a director since 1935.

The club has gained in prestige and quality under his forthright leadership.

Succeeding Bob as president is Alastair Campbell, last year's vice-president. Alastair played most of his golf in Winnipeg and joined Uplands when he came to Victoria in 1939 as freight agent for the CNR. He went back to Winnipeg in 1946, but on his retirement in 1953 renewed his connection with the club.

Douglas Willard has been elected as vice-president while Gordon Pellow again takes on the job as captain with Roley Ferris as vice-captain.

Chairman of the various committees are Jim Bramley (finance), William Loney (greens), L. A. Rees (membership), Ernie Peden (house), Frank Scroggs (entertainment) and Ken Lawson (junior).

Vernon Macan, dean of golf course architects in the Pacific Northwest, and long a leading player in the district, handed over the prizes at the annual presentation party staged by the Victoria Golf Club Saturday.

Vernon reminded the members in a dignified little speech of their proud heritage in being connected with the oldest club in this part of the world.

"I see Tacoma has been claiming this distinction, but they are wrong. Their club was formed a year after Victoria," he said.

During the years Mr. Macan said that the Oak Bay links had been greatly improved, and he added slyly "even if the members did not like my hump on the 12th green."

Macan's "pimple" on the front of the new 12th green has created a lot of controversy in the club, and it has recently been resumed.

Some members thought that it was not a fair contour and left the green sloping away from the line of play, but as Mr. Macan quite correctly pointed out there are several greens on the famous old course at St. Andrews similarly unorthodox.

While the two chief winners—Jim Barry and Ernie Watt—were not there to accept their championship awards, over 60 members participated in a jolly evening, highlighted by

Canucks' String Broken; Take On Cougars Tonight

A 23-year-old rightwinger who couldn't make the club, came back to Vancouver last night to fire the goal that prevented the Canucks from tying their record of 11 consecutive victories on home ice.

Jim Powers, who was shipped to Seattle last season and rejoined Totems' after the start of this season in a three-club arrangement which sent Eddie Stankiewicz to Spokane, popped in his fifth goal of the season early in the third period to give the Totems a 2-1 triumph.

It was only the sixth defeat of the season for Canucks, who lead the Western Hockey League by eight points with Seattle now in second place.

At the other end, rugged Frank Arnett devoted himself to stopping Ed Dorohoy, who has been leading the Canuck attack. Dorohoy managed to get the Vancouver goal but he was dumped time and again by Arnett. Tempers flared often but never quite got out of hand and referee Willie Papp managed to retain control with only seven minor penalties called.

FIRST GOAL

Guyle Fielder, who set up Powers for the winner, hooked the puck past Hank Bassen for the game's first goal after getting a pass from Powers. Dorohoy, unmarked momentarily in front of the goal, drove the puck past Bev Bentley after getting a passout from Danny Belisle.

After Powers' goal, Canucks carried the play in an all-out attack for the tying goal and Dorohoy missed twice and Belisle once on great chances just after Seattle had gone ahead.

Canucks pulled Bassen in the final minute and did everything but score. The game ended with a big pile-up in the Seattle goalmouth as Larry Cahoon's last-second shot hit a post and the puck bounced out in front of Bentley.

Up to Bruins

Plagued by injuries and a six-game losing streak, Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League yesterday called up centre Stan Baluk, former Victoria Cougar, from Providence of the American League. Baluk, No. 3 point-getter in the American League this season with 25, played for Cougars from 1957 to last spring.

Comets Edge Winnipeg, 5-3

Spokane Comets, who appeared outclassed in early-season play, last night continued to make motions of getting into the Western Hockey League's playoff scramble by knocking off the Warriors, 5-3, at Winnipeg.

It was the second win away from home for the Comets this season and their third victory in their last four games. The spurge has moved them into a sixth-place tie with the Warriors and within shouting distance of fourth place.

Fourth place is now shared by Edmonton Flyers and Calgary Stampeders, who were beaten, 5-4, in overtime by the Flyers in another game last night.

The difference at Winnipeg was the difference in goalkeepers. Al Rollins, who has been playing great hockey for the Warriors all season, had one of his infrequent off nights while Spokane's veteran, Emile Francis, had one of his best games.

Francis stopped 42 shots, 17 in the last period, while Rollins, who looked weak on at least two scoring shots, stopped only 21.

FACES COMETS

Les Lilley, who had scored only two goals previously this season, paced the Comets with two goals, while Ray Brunel, Warriors' top point-getter this season, almost pulled it out for Winnipeg with two third-period goals after setting up his club's first goal in the first period.

Chuck Holmes, who had set up two goals earlier in the game, broke it up at Edmonton after just over four minutes of action, scoring from the side of the goal with Calgary-keeper Claude Pronovost flat on the ice.

Gene Shue Leads Pistons

NEW YORK—Gene Shue scored 43 points last night for Detroit as the Pistons whipped Cincinnati Royals 104-91 in a National Basketball Association doubleheader.

In the second game, Syracuse defeated New York Knicks for the eighth straight time, this time 120-107. Ken Sears of New York led both clubs with 29.

RING TO LINKS

DETROIT (UPI)—Wally Burkemo, winner of the PGA championship, had a brief career as a professional boxer before turning to the links.

Duncan Drops Out Of Basketball Loop

Duncan has dropped out of the new Vancouver Island Senior B Basketball League, which begins with two games Saturday, league officials announced last night.

Reason for the move, which leaves a league of Victoria Half-Way House, Nanaimo, Alberni and Cumberland, was not given. Half-Way House meets Nanaimo in Mount View gym at 9 p.m. Saturday and Cumberland is in Alberni the same night to begin the schedule.

Preliminary here Saturday features Victoria College's B team against Alberni, starting at 7:30.

AT MOUNT VIEW GYM

At Mount View gym last night, St. Louis College bantam boys beat First United 35-34 in a game in which the teams were never more than three points apart. Naval Vets edged Hudson's Bay 27-24 in a senior C women's game.

'Propaganda Bombs' Fill Air

TORONTO — Odds, Jim Van Pelt, scouting reports and the weather fill football fans' conversation as Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Hamilton Tiger-Cats get ready for Saturday's Grey Cup game. (Starting at 10 a.m. Victoria time.)

But possibly the most intelligent statement yesterday was made by an unidentified Winnipeg player on being questioned about the dozens of rumors floating around.

"Don't pay any attention," he said, "because from now on, (Hamilton coach) Jim Trimble and us will be throwing propaganda bombs at each other. We're sworn to secrecy about the true facts."

Some true facts:

1. Oddsmakers picked Winnipeg by one to two points, first time a western club has ever been favored in a Grey Cup game played in the east.
2. Bomber quarterback Kenny Ploen, who led the WIFU with 10 pass interceptions on defence, practiced as defensive safetyback at Varsity Stadium.
3. The man Ploen replaced, injured Jim Van Pelt, was present in civvies but wouldn't say if he'll dress Saturday to do Winnipeg's kicking—one of those rumors mentioned above.
4. Trimble professed ignorance of Bomber strategy despite scouting by his assistant,

Jack Jacobs, at the western final. He said he's dying to have the fat scouting file of George Terlep, Ottawa's assistant coach and former Saskatchewan boss.

5. Terlep, soon to become general manager at Ottawa, replied that Rough Rider coach Frank Clair has the file and he's somewhere in the U.S., looking for players.

6. Weatherman refused to talk about Saturday but forecast snow and freezing temperatures today.

7. Bomber runner Carver Shannon and TI-Cat quarterback Bernie Faloney said they were glad the game would be a Hamilton-Winnipeg clash as it's "a rubber game." Hamilton won 32-7 in 1957, Winnipeg 35-28 last year and Hamilton won an exhibition game last August, 8-3.

8. On the lighter side, Mayor Nathan Phillips, surrounded by Miss Grey Cup candidates, stated Grey Cup festival week by trying to kick a football from the top of city hall steps. He just grazed it, the ball bounced only 15 feet—and the festival was on.

GREY CUP GOSSIP: All tickets for 30,000-seat Canadian National Exhibition Stadium are gone, except for scalpers' seats... Prime Minister Diefenbaker will officiate at the kickoff... both clubs are injury-free, except for Van Pelt, and Winnipeg has had an extra week of rest... coach Bud Grant concedes Bombers will be outweighed by TI-Cats an average of 20 pounds along the line. In fact, "we're the lightest team in Canada"... Hamilton's Trimble insists that "if you stop their rushing, you stop the Bombers" and admits he'll keep the six-men downfield pass play dreamed up by ex-Toronto coach Hamp Pool and used against Ottawa Saturday... Ottawa reports say the Riders' Clair has been offered a coaching job with one of the clubs in the new American Football League... and this never-to-be-forgotten item—Winnipeg end Ernie Pitts' teammates have nicknamed him Zasu.

Marpole Tackles Oak Bay For B.C. Juvenile Grid Title

Marpole Rotary of Vancouver, undefeated in two years of mainland play, has won the right to oppose Oak Bay Police for the B.C. juvenile football championship.

Oak Bay, winners last year, will act as host in the sudden death game at Carnarvon Park at 2 p.m. Sunday. It will be the last game of 1959 for both teams, as Western Canada and Canadian juvenile finals won't be organized until next year at the earliest.

Bleachers seating 250 persons are being brought in for the game and the 55-piece Mount View High School band will entertain before the game and at halftime.

Oak Bay, which beat Campbell River 51-8 in a two-game Island final, will be at full strength except for right end Dennis Yardley, who has a possible sprained ankle.

Injury list is not available from Marpole, described as a young, fast, quick-breaking and hard-tackling club.

Holder, Sammon Seek New Esquimalt Terms

G. K. SAMMON

WALTER HOLDER

Incumbent Fields Undecided

Two Esquimalt councillors announced last night they will seek re-election Dec. 17.

Both are veterans of the municipal arena. Coun. Walter Holder with nine years' service, and Coun. G. K. Sammon with six years on council.

"I want to continue to be part of our council," said Coun. Holder. "It's a good council. The members all pull together and it has accomplished a lot. All you've got to do is take a look around Esquimalt to see what has been done."

ACTING REEVE

During the past year he has been called on to act as reeve in the absence of Reeve A. C. Wurtele. He is chairman of the public works committee, and in the past has headed all the other council committees as well.

Coun. Sammons said one of his main aims is to achieve a metropolitan health service for Greater Victoria. For the past six years he has served on the Victoria-Esquimalt Union Board of Health.

On council he is chairman of the fire and light committee, and he represents Esquimalt on the library board and the Greater Victoria Inermunicipal committee.

HOLD TAXES

"I will make every effort to hold the taxes at the present mill rate," said Coun. Sammon. He also promised to support the municipality's continuing program of improvement of boulevards and parks.

He is supervisor of the medical laboratory at Veterans' Hospital and represents the municipalities of Esquimalt, Oak Bay and Saanich on the board of St. Joseph's Hospital. He is also national president of the DVA Employees' National Association.

UNDECIDED

Third member of Esquimalt council whose term ends this December is Coun. Arthur Fields. He said last night he has not yet decided if he will seek re-election.

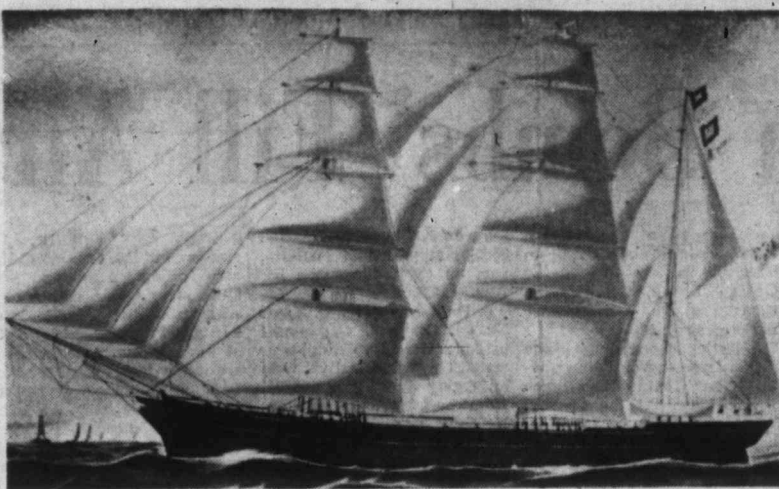

One other candidate who announced previously he will try for a council seat is 38-year-old Peter Francis, a past-president of Esquimalt Legion, making his entry into municipal politics.

Pane Smashed In Break-In Try

Mrs. Doris Phillips, 1229 Rudin Street, told police last night that she found a basement window broken when she returned home shortly after dark.

Police investigated and found a rear door broken, but the house apparently had not been entered.

NANAIMO — New president of Nanaimo Horticultural Society is Henry Nichola. He replaces Bill Atkinson who held the position for three consecutive years.

Rite to Recall Pioneers' Arrival

A special service to commemorate the arrival of the sailing ship Princess Royal at Nanaimo 105 years ago with pioneer families will be conducted at Pioneer Rock at 11 a.m. Friday by Rev. Chris Jack. The ship carried 24 of Nanaimo's first families from the United Kingdom in 1854.

New Westminster

Alderman Removed Bodily

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — A city alderman who shouted above the banging of Mayor Beth Wood's gavel here Monday night was lifted from the council chambers in his chair by two police officers.

The action came after council, by a 4-2 vote, supported a recommendation urging formation of a labor negotiating committee in co-operation with other Greater Vancouver municipalities.

Ald. J. Lewis Sangster opposed the proposal continuously.

When he continued to shout above the gavel, Mrs. Wood asked city clerk George Brine to step a few doors down to the police station to bring back officers to remove Ald. Sangster.

"I refuse to move," said Mr. Sangster when two policemen entered the chamber. "She's got no right to throw me out." The officers stepped towards him.

"You'll have to carry me out," said the alderman. The officers picked up the alderman in his chair and carried him into an adjoining committee room.

Job Picture Brighter In Nanaimo

NANAIMO — The area's employment picture this week looks brighter than 12 months ago.

Only 642 men and 245 women are registered for employment with the National Employment Service branch, compared to 849 men and 314 women last year.

Loggers are being snapped up either locally or in other areas.

Comox logging company has employed the highest number of men in the woods for five years. There are 526 men working for the company at present.

Central Saanich

Close Watch Kept On Planning Cost

Central Saanich council is keeping a close watch on the cost of being a member of the Capital Regional Planning Board.

At the conclusion of the reading of a planning board report at last night's council meeting, Reeve H. Rupert Brown said, "we'll have to watch this and make sure we do not run ourselves into a big bill."

He quoted an instance where the starting salary for an employee of the board was set at $640 per month. "They did not say what salary he finished at," Reeve Brown said.

"However," he said, "I think we can count on Victoria and Oak Bay not to let it get out of hand."

Tin Miners Don't Get Pimples

Because Cornish tin miners appeared to avoid skin blemishes, British chemists suggested the use of tin in treating boils, acne, pimples.

Now convenient, tasteless tablets containing 42.5% metallic tin are available under the brand name "Tinoid." Rapid, satisfactory results are claimed for this inexpensive treatment.

Tinoid Tablets are sold without prescription at all drug stores, $1.50.

Audience Against

450 Cheer, Clap Gasp at Slides On Fluoridation

A sympathetic crowd of 450 Victorians last night cheered and clapped through nearly three hours of anti-fluoridation speeches which linked the measure with everything from cancer to corroded pipes.

The audience gasped at color slides showing mottled teeth; applauded a charge that public health officials endorse fluoridation to secure their jobs and acquire power, and laughed loudly at a suggestion that "the chamber of commerce would like to put lanolin in the water to help people who are going bald."

Speakers at the meeting, sponsored by the B.C. Pure Food Guild, the Fluoridation Investigation Society and the National Health Foundation, were a Seattle radiologist and a Seattle dentist.

Dr. F. B. Exner, a former member of the medical faculty at the University of Washington, said forces in favor of fluoridation were mis-stating the facts and of Victoria's medical health officer, Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy, stated, "I don't doubt she believes the things she tells you, but the plain fact is that she doesn't know what she is talking about."

Doesn't Dare Debate

He also charged that Dr. Mahaffy "doesn't dare debate the facts with me, or with anyone else who knows the facts." In reply to a written question concerning his qualifications to discuss fluoridation, Dr. Exner said he had done more original research "on the subject than anyone else in the world."

The American Medical Association, he said, has never endorsed fluoridation and later issued a statement that it did not "urge or recommend any community to fluoridate."

He said the strongest motive of the pro-fluoridation faction was on behalf of the aluminum, petroleum and super-phosphate industries which, because they discharge fluorides into the air from their factories, want people to think "that a little bit of fluoride is a good thing, that a little bit won't hurt you."

Reduce Dental Decay

Dr. Arthur B. MacWhinnie, a dentist, said sugar interests were strong backers of fluoridation because they believe that it will reduce dental decay and thus encourage people to increase or maintain their sugar consumption.

He listed what he termed six better ways to administer fluorides to youngsters than through the water supply and said that cost of water system fluoridation works out $50 to $60 per child, while individual application can cost as little as $1 per child.

Of $10,000 spent for fluorides for distribution through the water system, he charged, "only $5 worth of the drug gets to the patient."

Referring to alleged mottling of teeth due to fluorides, Dr. MacWhinnie said "the dental association, some of our prominent church leaders, and the city's best-known PTA leaders who claim to know both sides of this question are perfectly willing to permanently disfigure up to 30 per cent of our child population and as yet unborn babies."

You can pick up a gift-boxed phone at the Telephone Company, already to put under the tree. Or, for Christmas secrecy, have it delivered to your office. The extension phone will be installed, free of charge, shortly after Christmas.

How to give an Extension Phone for Christmas:

The only charge is for regular telephone service, each month — $1.25 (free installation). One of the attractive features of this gift of service is that you may give it for as long a period as you wish. Many people give it for 1 year. This would come to $12.50. You may pre-pay this or have the $1.25 added to your own telephone bill each month. An especially lovely gift is a coloured extension phone. To give this, there is an additional one-time charge of $12.00. This may also be paid by installment charges on your own telephone bill.

Shortnin' Bread Little Too Spicy?

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Singer Nelson Eddy said Tuesday he won't put his act on where Candy Barr used to take her clothes off.

Eddy, famed for the song "Shortnin' Bread," thinks his act might be a little too naughty for Las Vegas—which lately has been a show-ground for bare-chested girls but which more lately has become surprisingly morality-conscious.

Here's what happened: Clark County commissioners, trying to elevate the moral tone at resorts in the Nevada city, told the El Rancho Vegas to get rid of Candy Barr, saying the stripper is appealing a 15-year prison sentence for possession of marijuana in Texas.

Eddy, whose act features a filmsily attired damsel, said here:

"I'm afraid my act might be too spicy for them. I'd hate to be the cause of the El Rancho Vegas jumping from the frying pan to the fire, since our act does have its provocative moments."

City Junior Symphony, Mary Munn on Stage

There is a program of musical distinction at Oak Bay Junior High School tonight.

Sponsored by the Victoria Musical Art Society, pianist Mary Munn will be heard in recital as well as the Junior Symphony Orchestra.

In Miss Munn the London Daily Telegraph noted "an artist of exceptional ability and sound musicianship." Other prominent newspapers, both in Britain and Canada, have emphasized her "intensely sensitive playing, and 'triumphant power and resonance,' and 'artistic insight.'"

WONDERLAND

Miss Munn, a native of Montreal and now a resident of Victoria, has been blind since birth. "She has never seen the world," observes Augustus Bridle of the Toronto Daily Star, "which to her is a wonderland of touch, smell and miraculous hearing."

And of significance is the fact that Miss Munn's artistry brings that same "wonderland of miraculous hearing to her audiences."

Tonight she plays a Beethoven Sonata Op. 2, No. 3, three shorter works of Chopin, two Etudes and a Ballade, John

Fugitive Pheasant Clings To Freedom on the Wing

Cherry, the missing cock-pheasant, was still free late yesterday afternoon, his owner, Miss Jessie Read, 1762 Pembroke, reported.

During the day, three reports were received that he had been sighted—in the 1400 block of Pembroke, at King George Terrace and Crescent Road, and on Jackson Street between Tolmie and Finlayson.

But the bird got away before positive identification could be made.

Good Phrases—Meaning Nothing Says Herter of Acheson Charge

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter fired back yesterday at former secretary Dean Acheson's charge that the Eisenhower administration's foreign policy consists of running around to international conferences.

Herter accused Acheson of using meaningless phrases and of knocking over his own strawmen in a series of recent remarks attacking the Republican administration.

He said Acheson employed some good phrases—but they didn't really mean anything.

Acheson, former president Harry S. Truman's secretary of state, said on Nov. 16 that President Eisenhower's forthcoming tour of Europe, Asia and the Middle East would produce small results, because the president had no clear-cut policy objectives.

Accusing the administration of substituting "locomotion" for policy, Acheson said it "neither negotiates nor acts, it travels." He said the mileage clocked by the president and Herter was impressive "but the results are not."

Acheson made the charges in his role as chairman of the Democratic national committee's advisory council on foreign policy.

OTTAWA (UPI)—Canadians will be able to drive coast-to-coast on the Trans-Canada highway by the end of 1960 except for stretches in Newfoundland and British Columbia, says W. R. Binks of the highways division of the public works department. He said 3,248 miles of the 4,491-mile-long highway have been completed to date.

To Advise on U.K.'s African Policy

LONDON (UPI)—Professor Donald G. Creighton of the University of Toronto was among a group of "men of independent mind" appointed yesterday by Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to advise the government on policy in central Africa.

The 26-man commission, headed by Lord Monckton, 68, a former Conservative cabinet minister, will make a preliminary survey of the situation in the federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland in preparation for a conference here next year on the constitution of the federation.

Macmillan told the House of Commons that the commission would be "advisory" and would begin work early in February.

The vice-chairman, Macmillan announced, will be Sir Donald MacGillivray, former high commissioner in Malaya.

Its membership includes Creighton, a history professor, and Frank Menzies, former crown solicitor of the state of Victoria, Australia.

Macmillan asked the opposition Labor party to nominate three of its former cabinet members to the commission but the party so far has declined the invitation.

"I regard the commission as free in practice to hear all points of view from whatever quarter and on whatever subject," Macmillan said.

... independent mind

He said it has been decided not to include representatives of African political parties but that these would be given full opportunity to make their views known to the commission.

"What is intended," Macmillan said, "is to bring to this task men of independent mind not committed to extreme views. What really matters is that African opinion of all shades will be fully heard and objectively recorded. I regard the commission as free in practice to hear all points of view from whatever quarter."

Dinghy Singer Nabbed

A policeman never knows where duty may call.

Monday night two members of the city force found themselves rowing out to the centre of Inner Harbor. A resident had reported someone had stolen his eight-foot plywood dinghy, and was sitting in it in the harbor, singing. So he was—and he was arrested.

Yesterday city police court was told the man was too ill to answer to a charge of theft under the value of $50.

Fungus Is the Villain

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

By this time, the vegetable crops which are to be lifted and stored for winter are safely tucked away in the basement, root cellar, storehouse or clamp. Earlier in the fall I outlined some simple ways of storing the different kinds of vegetables, but in view of the heavy losses which occur every winter in stored vegetables and the discouraging effect this has on the novice gardener, I thought we might have a little chat today on some of the causes of spoilage, and the ways in which they may be overcome.

Much of this trouble is due to attack by fungi which feed upon the stored crops and cause them to decay. Potatoes sometimes suffer from a trouble known as "dry rot," which causes the tubers to shrivel and turn brown without becoming wet and slimy. By contrast, carrots are often attacked by a fungus which makes them decay into a soft, squishy, dark-colored mass covered with a dense cottony mold.

In both instances, the fungus is encouraged by damp and stuffy conditions. If the storage place is properly ventilated and really dry, neither of these infections will have much of a chance to get a firm hold on the crop.

Storage sheds and root cellars are seldom as dry nor as well ventilated as they should be, and the floor of the basement is often far too damp from condensation for good storage. While doors, windows and ventilators must be kept closed in really severe weather to keep out the frost, we get plenty of mild days through the winter when doors and windows can be thrown open and the air given a complete change.

All root crops keep most satisfactorily at a temperature only a few degrees above freezing. High temperatures are almost as harmful--sometimes even more damaging--than sharp frost.

Beginners are often puzzled as to how to store turnips, swedes and parsnips. The easiest way is to leave the bulk of the crop in the ground, and dig up small quantities of them as required for the table throughout the winter. A little frost improves the flavor of these vegetables, and we seldom get a winter severe enough to damage these toughies while underground.

Bitter weather, however, can freeze the ground so hard that these vegetables cannot be dug up. The wise gardener will, therefore, lift and store a small reserve supply under cover, in boxes of dry sand or soil in an unheated shed or garage, just to tide him over such frosty spells.

With vegetables left in the ground, the thing to fear is not so much severe weather, but a too-mild winter, in which case they may be stimulated into second growth and become too large and coarse for good eating. A mild winter, too, allows the soil pests to continue their activities, and we can expect to have a proportion of our turnips and parsnips holed by slugs and wireworms.

If disease does attack root crops in storage, despite all the precautions that have been taken, the only satisfactory course is to remove all the affected specimens and burn them before the infection has a chance to spread.

Headlines Ahead for Rex, Lauren?

NEW YORK (NANA)—It won't surprise me if Lauren Bacall and Rex Harrison make romantic headlines. Lauren was a close friend of the late Mrs. Harrison, fascinating Kay Kendall, and is somewhat of the same type.

It's still touch and go whether Sir Laurence Olivier will play Caesar to Elizabeth Taylor's Cleopatra... But Stephen Boyd seems set for Mark Antony.

Doris Vidor, widow of director Charles Vidor, is looking 15 years younger and is seeing Bob Blumhoff, coast representative for a movie company, quite often.

Simone Signoret, the enchantress of "Room at the Top," goes to Tokyo with singer husband Yves Montand.

Director Peter Glenville has signed the beautiful girl in "Orfeu Negro"—Marpessa Dawn, to star with Spencer Tracy and Sidney Poitier in Glenville's next movie, "The Devil at Four o'Clock."

Play producer David Merrick, who is all over the successful Broadway theatrical scene, has been quietly planning a stage version of "Lili," in which Leslie Caron was so enchanting in the Metro musical with Mel Ferrer.

On Jack Benny's show next Sunday, he will have Jack Paar as his guest. And Dennis Day will do a take-off of Chiff Arquette to make Paar feel at home.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own homes without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—the improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Christmas 'Shoppers Special' May Become Regular Downtown Bus Loop

A year round "shoppers special" bus route in downtown Victoria may grow out of a Christmas season transit service which a group of city merchants decided to underwrite yesterday.

"If public response to the Christmas shoppers' bus is good enough it might well pave the way for a permanent loop service in the shopping district," Victoria Chamber of Commerce retail merchants group chairman Roy C. Denny said yesterday. He stated that such a service has been an outstanding success in at least one other North American city, Dallas, Texas.

The Christmas shopping bus will go into service Dec. 4 and will operate until the last shopping day before Christmas. Passengers will pay only five cents to board the bus for any destination along its route, which starts at Douglas and Herald, travels south on Douglas to Courtney, west on Courtney to Government and north on Government to Herald.

A B.C. Electric bus will be specially decorated for the service. Eight major city retail stores have pledged up to $60 each to defray losses which the service is expected to incur. But a special committee headed by Hugh Francis will ask other downtown stores to contribute to the program. The bus will cover its route in 12 minutes and will operate continuously throughout most of the day.

May Hinge on Unorganized Vote

Fluoridation May Hit Snag

Water commissioner Ronald Upward expressed doubt yesterday that the Greater Victoria water supply could be fluoridated — even with strong approval from Greater Victoria municipalities — without a favorable vote from residents of the unorganized area served by the water district. The question, he said, probably will be discussed at a water board meeting Friday. "We're trying to straighten it out," Mr. Upward said. "If Greater Victoria municipalities vote for fluoridation, I think we still will have to conduct a vote in the unorganized area." And, he said, there is a question of time; if fluoridation is approved, and is to be started in 1960, provincial legislation must be sought at the session beginning at the end of January.

Municipalities already have power to fluoridate their water supplies if fluoridation is approved by 60 per cent of voters. "But we are not a municipal waterworks," Mr. Upward said, "so we will need a change in our legislation."

B.C. Polio Situation 'Tapers Off'

Provincial deputy health minister Dr. G. F. Amyot said yesterday "it looks as if the polio situation in British Columbia is tapering off."

"It looks encouraging. Out of the last four cases, two had their onset earlier this month and one went back to Oct. 7," he said. Only one of them was a new case, a boy of six months at Valemount on Nov. 20.

B.C. polio figure for this year stands at 104 cases and 13 deaths.

Suspects Face Charges Today

'Good Police Work' Cracks Burglary from Warehouse

Biggest Part Of Loot Recovered

Burly city policemen were busy yesterday transferring cases of cigarettes and a quantity of electrical appliances from police vehicles into city police headquarters for safekeeping.

These items represented almost 100 per cent of the loot stolen Friday evening from Vancouver Barge Transportation Ltd., 1112 Wharf.

AROUND CLOCK

Working almost around the clock since the break-in was reported early Saturday, city detectives late Monday found the trail that led to recovery of the stolen articles.

A fair portion of about $600 in cash and cheques, taken from a safe at the burgled premises, has also been recovered.

Yesterday, Chief Constable John Blackstock would not disclose how his men broke the case.

GOOD POLICE WORK

"Just call it good police work," he said.

Men he mentioned as responsible for the "good work" were Dets. Gus Munro and Deans Blackstock, assisted by Dets. Alex Briggs, Dick Barry and Bill Andrews.

Chief Blackstock said the break-in occurred about 9 p.m. Friday. A stolen car was used to transport the bulky loot from the warehouse to an apartment in James Bay, where police recovered it. Rear seat of the car was removed for easier carrying of the goods, and it is believed at least two trips were required.

IN CITY COURT

Three suspects picked up by detectives in connection with the case are scheduled to appear in city police court this morning.

Prairie Loyalty Only Skin Deep?

Prairie residents may seem intensely loyal to the barren wastes they call home, but city tourist officials have evidence to show that the loyalty may only run skin deep.

Colwood Fire Not Serious

All Colwood volunteer firemen were called to duty last night after a fire was reported in a five-room caretaker's house on the old Pendray estate near Esquimalt Lagoon. However, the "blaze" was found to be a backed-up sawdust burner, "giving out a little smoke," a fireman said. The cottage is on the grounds of 3221 Pendray, and is occupied by Leonard Montgomery.

Starvation Story Denied

'No Real Need' Among Indians

Federal officials and a missionary on the spot yesterday flatly denied reports that "hundreds" of Indians on the West Coast of Vancouver Island are near starvation.

Rev. Reginald Bennett at the Ahousat Indian mission run by the United Church of Canada told the Colonist: "I don't know of any real need."

"Our natives here are about as hard up as any . . . and those that are in need are getting regular relief."

The village at Ahousat with its 500 inhabitants is the largest Indian community on the west coast of the Island.

In Vancouver, W. S. Arnell, Indian commissioner for B.C., said the reports were untrue.

"There are no Indians on the West Coast starving," said Mr. Arnell. "We are aware that the Indians had a poor fishing season and relief is being provided."

The commissioner said his department would nevertheless be investigating reports by fisherman Alec Anderson who said in Victoria yesterday that Indian families are so destitute they have been reduced to eating clams and dried bread as a steady diet.

Mr. Anderson, en route from West Coast fishing grounds to his Vancouver home, appealed to Victorians to help those who are going hungry. "He may well say that people are living on bread and clams," said Mr. Bennett. "That's what a lot of them like to eat."

Meanwhile, at the Indian inspector's office at Alberni a spokesman said so far as he knew there was no basis for claims that some Indians were near starvation.

"We know they had a bad fishing season," the spokesman said. "But where we learn that there is need relief is issued."

He added that relief is issued regularly by the month to needy Indians. He could not say how many now are getting such relief.

Militiamen Decorated

Four Victoria members of the militia received the Canadian Forces Medal last night from Brig. J. W. Bishop, B.C. area commander, during his annual inspection of No. 40 Technical Squadron, RCME and No. 5 (B.C.) Medium Battery, RCA.

The four, totalling 78 years of military service, were WO2 George Dinnington, 3851 Ascot Drive; Sgt. Donald Stanley, 3173 Earl Grey Street; Lieut. David Fyvie, 430 Springfield; and WO2 William Johnstone, 4170 Cedar Hill Road.

Rotary Will Spend $2,500 On Mount Douglas Lookout

A Rotary Club plan for an improved lookout at Mount Douglas was approved yesterday by Victoria - Saanich beaches and parks committee.

points-of-interest indicator and better access—is $2,500.

The committee also voted to ask for Junior Chamber of Commerce approval of a list of work bringing total ex-

Yarrows Plans Big Expansion

Yarrows Ltd. is expanding its facilities to build bigger ships, "as a measure of faith in the future of shipbuilding on the west coast," general manager John Wallace announced last night.

Work has already started on the $162,000 project—a new building berth which will accommodate vessels up to 350 feet long with a 60-foot beam.

The new facilities will enable local yards to build hulls which were formerly subcontracted to the parent company, Burrard Dry Dock Co. Ltd. in North Vancouver, because Yarrows could not accommodate them.

A 35-ton travelling crane, recently purchased in California, will operate between the new building berth and the fabricating skids alongside.

Announcement of the new project comes at a time when west coast yards are hard-pressed to find new contracts to keep together their skilled workers.

"This will give us complete facilities, it will make our operation more efficient," said Mr. Wallace.

"I don't know what we're going to build . . . but I feel certain that there is a future for shipbuilding in western Canada."

J. A. Pollard, head of Pollard Construction which was awarded the general contract, said last night the job will take between four and five months to complete with about 30 men employed at the peak periods.

Driver Only Bruised

A motorist escaped with only bruises and abrasions last night when his car ran into a ditch beside the Patricia Bay Highway, flipped end over end, rolled sideways and came to rest back on its wheels.

William Patterson, Jr., 6021 West Saanich Road, was treated for minor injuries at Royal Jubilee Hospital. Police said his 1946 car was a total wreck. The accident occurred at 7:25 p.m. near the Claremont Avenue intersection, where the driver lost control of the northbound car and struck a ditch two feet deep, police said.

Fluoridation Loan Bylaw PTA Topic

Fluoridation and the new loan bylaw for Saanich school district will be discussed at a meeting of Cordova Bay PTA, Thursday at 8:30 p.m. at Cordova Bay Elementary School. All community members are invited, an official said.

Looks Like a 'Big' Christmas

One of the biggest Christmas trees in western Canada was "planted" in the middle of the 700 block on Yates Street yesterday. Standing beside the 50-foot Douglas fir is taller Ronnie Holst-Larsen of Duncan, who supervised whole job—extra tricky because tree had to be dropped with minimum damage. Christmas music will be piped from the tree.—(William A. Boucher photo.)

Sunken Relics Examined

Ship's Identity Clues All Point to Orient

Search for the identity of a three-masted sailing ship wrecked many years ago on the west coast of Vancouver Island has led to the Orient.

Naval divers from Pacific Command headquarters here recently recovered five tons of relics from the sunken ship resting in 70 feet of water in Sydney Inlet, some 125 miles northwest of Victoria.

A study of articles brought to the surface has disclosed that the vessel probably foundered during the last century. Earlier estimates put the age of the relics at between 200 and 300 years.

"We're still working hard trying to piece together all the clues to her identity," said Commodore H. V. W. Groos. "We have got a pretty fair idea of the characteristics she must have had."

These have been forwarded to a number of authorities, the commodore said, including Lloyd's of London, the British manufacturers of some of the recovered pieces of wreckage, and the Burmese ambassador.

"We are trying to find out in Burma what ships were built of Burma teak which fit the characteristics," he said.

Million-Name Plea May Reach Commons

A proposed 1,000,000-signature "petition of right" on behalf of Canada's civil servants should go to the House of Commons, a local joint-action committee representing Victoria's 3,000 federal workers decided last night.

The petition would ask for release of secret salary recommendations of the federal civil service commission plus some form of collective bargaining for government employees.

"We want the report of the civil service commission made public on the floor of the House," said G. K. Sammon, chairman of the local committee.

"The reason it has not been made public so far is that the salary recommendations are favorable to us—we know that."

He said government employees are "not interested in strike privileges" in any collective bargaining agreement with the federal government.

The recommendation will go to the national joint action committee and if it is approved will become the first use of the petition of right in Canada's history.

Lucky Lad Only Bruised In Bicycle-Car Crash

A lucky Oak Bay youngster escaped with bruises late Monday afternoon when his bicycle and a car crashed at the corner of McNeil and Runnymede.

Falkland, was taken by Oak Bay police to Royal Jubilee Hospital, where he was checked and released. Car driver was James Fitzalmon, 2439 Lincoln. Police said the boy's bicycle had no light.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann: I read often in your column about wives who cheat on their husbands and the poor guys don't know what to do. This is how I handled the problem.

My wife is 31, a natural redhead with a great figure. We've been married 10 years and never had any children. The third year of our marriage Myra admitted to an affair with her boss—a married man with five children.

She said they were deeply in love and he was trying to "work out a settlement with his wife so they could be married."

I went to see the man and told him that since their love was so great, he could have her. The guy almost swallowed his cigar. He said he had no intention of breaking up his marriage and offered to find Myra another job at once.

Two years later she got involved with a single man. She said finances were delaying their plans to go off together. I went to see this fellow and told him I'd be happy to set Myra free. I even offered to lend him some money so he could marry her. He almost passed out in front of my eyes. He said he felt like a big jerk and promised never to see her again.

After these two experiences my wife finally got it through that red head that these guys were just amusing themselves. She admitted she'd been a fool and I've never had a bit of trouble with her since.—RELAXED.

Harping Husband Ruining Life

Dear Ann: Please don't toss my letter aside as a fantastic story. This problem is ruining my life. Tell me if it's possible for a person to say things which are not true while under an anesthetic.

My husband insists I told him in detail of an illicit love affair while coming out of ether. This was six months ago and he's been harping on it steadily. I've never had anything to do with another man either before or since my marriage 13 years ago. Please tell me how to cope with this.—DREAMER.

Dear Dreamer: Ask your surgeon to speak to your husband. The surgeon will tell him that probably due to his anxiety he imagined things which were never said. He may have caught a word or two and added his own interpretation.

People do not relate in detail coherent accounts of anything while coming out of an anesthetic. Most words are jumbled together, unrelated and make very little sense.

Teen Diet Undermines Health

Dear Ann: An increasing number of teenagers live on soft drinks, potato chips, candy, ice-cream and peanuts. This will eventually undermine the health of our country.

Will you please say something in your column about this?

Millions of teenagers read your column daily and if their parents don't know enough to alert them to this danger, maybe you can do something.—MR. Z.

Dear Mr. Z.: Although it may seem that most teenagers are living on junk, the truth of the matter is the diet structure in America is the most nourishing in the world. In most countries there is less variety of the basic essentials and it is available to fewer people.

I agree that some teenagers' complexions and teeth would improve if they ate fewer sweets, but most teens get enough nourishing food to balance it.

Confidential to Sharpe: You write so well—when are you going to learn to read. I was not born in Russia. Look again, please.

Tasty Mexican Pie Festive, Flavorful

By LOUISE MOORE

"Down Mexico Way"—they have a way with the inexpensive cuts of meats to make a festive and flavorful dish that's good enough for a party. So my idea is to choose a Mexican theme for your next get-together and serve this tasty and festive Mexican pie.

For the real Mexican atmosphere, use bright pottery, straw table mats or those of gay striped linen, wooden salad bowls, figure of a Mexican for the centerpiece and napkins with the same motif. And you, too, could go southern with a bright and fanciful skirt and blouse. Then tuck a rose in your hair—but, please—put on your shoes!

ECONOMICAL CUTS

This pie is made with ground beef—chuck, neck, brisket or shank. However, the chuck or round cuts make the leanest ground meat and best for this pie. Here is the menu:

Mexican Pie

Crisp green salad with vinegar and oil
Tostadas
Coffee Ice Cream

The salad can be made even tastier with pickled banana peppers, if you can get them. Tostadas are a typical Mexican bread accompaniment—they are Mexican tortillas (bought canned in many grocery stores), which are cut in pie-shaped wedges, deep-fat fried in shortening and lightly salted. But use crusty bread and improvise when you can't get the genuine Mexican foods.

TAMALE PIE

Chop and cook 1 medium-sized onion and 1 minced clove of garlic in 2 tbsp. piping hot fat for 5 minutes. Add 1½ pounds ground lean beef and brown nicely. Add ½ cup diced celery, ¼ cup diced green pepper, 1 can (2-oz.) whole kernel corn, 1½ cups canned tomatoes, 1 tbsp. chili powder, 2 tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. allspice, ¼ tsp. freshly ground black pepper. Simmer for 10 minutes.

CORN MEAL CRUST

Stir 1½ cup corn meal and 2 tsp. salt into 2½ cups boiling water and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Stir in 2 tbsp. butter and cook over hot water 20 minutes. Line bottom and side of 2-quart casserole with corn meal mixture. Pour in filling. Bake at moderate temperature (350°) for 45 minutes. Sprinkle top with ¼ cup grated cheese and bake 15 minutes longer. Serve 6 to 8.

FRUIT, LIQUEUR

A delectable ending to this meal (instead of ice cream) would be a mixture of frozen fruits—peaches, raspberries, pears, pineapple chunks, cherries with a liqueur poured over them—Curacao, cognac, kirsch or apricot brandy. It's delicious served with fruits barely thawed.

MEET THURSDAY

Native Daughters of B.C., Post No. 3, will meet on Thursday, Nov. 26, in the Orange Hall at 8 p.m.

Tips for Parents

Children Need Good Training In Money Use

By EDITH HENRY

Parents in a discussion admitted that difficulty and disagreement over family money was one of the chief hurdles in the practical part of their married lives.

This suggests that in some way their training in money matters has been faulty.

Lets see if we can develop better attitudes in our children than we ourselves have had towards family money and more wisdom in the use of it. Then we help them with this particular adjustment in their married lives.

DICTATE ACTIONS

Attitudes towards family money are important because they dictate many of our actions. As we think, so we act.

What then is the thinking in your family in regard to this thing "which doesn't grow on trees" and "slips through our fingers" or "melts away"?

NO MONEY

In primitive times there was no money. We suppose that all members of the tribe, both men and women, took part in the activities of daily life. They hunted and fished, prepared food and the necessary shelter. Together they fended off their enemies.

In modern times, man's work is rewarded by money which in turn provides food, shelter, etc. Woman's work plays a supporting role—has no money measurement.

IDEA ROOTED

We tend to assume that belongs to the man. This idea is deeply rooted in our homes for various reasons.

But if we allow our sons and daughters to grow up with the idea that family money is personally owned by one member of the family, then we have to answer the question, "What is the result going to be?"

Sally had been married a month when Jim brought home his first pay cheque. He said nothing about the amount, nor what they should do with it.

THIS FOR YOU

His only gesture was to give Sally some for housekeeping with the remark, "This is for you." After all, that is what his father had always done.

Jim and Sally will build their marriage more effectively if they have the attitude towards money which sees it as a family possession, and if they both have been trained in its wise use. One of the chief hurdles of their life together will have been removed.

Designer Fashions Sold For Pipe-Rack Prices

By MARY PRIME

NEW YORK (UPI)—In the heart of Manhattan's upper-crust residential area stands a shop which sells couturier clothes for pipe-rack prices.

Women in minks and town tweeds jostle each other in bargain-basement haste to reach the racks. The clothes range from coats, suits, and casual Italian knits to Paris evening gowns. Price tags read from $9.90 to $200.

"You couldn't buy designer fashions for less if the designer were your brother-in-law," said the proprietor, a shapely cotton-candy blonde named Bernice Bolton.

Some clothes are end of season numbers, but many are straight from the factory. Some sell for a 20 per cent mark-up over the wholesale price, others for less than wholesale.

Mrs. Bolton picked out a smart beige dress, by a top American designer, from the nearest rack.

"This would cost at least $65," she said. The price tag read: $19.90.

How does she do it? By concentrating on volume and keeping the overhead down. There are no charge accounts, no deliveries, no alterations, and no refunds or exchanges. Bookkeeping, billing, and saleswomen are kept

Anniversary, Wedding Date On Same Day

Mrs. M. A. Niven flew from Saskatoon recently to attend the wedding of her granddaughter, Sylvia Anne Cave, who was married on Mrs. Niven's wedding anniversary.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cave of Brentwood Bay, was united in marriage with Mr. Stephen Fraser Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Clark of Prospect Lake. The ceremony was in Brentwood United Church with Rev. C. H. Whitmore officiating.

MADE DRESS

The wedding dress and veil was made by the bride. Her waltz-length gown of white velvet was cut on princess lines with lily point sleeves. A French lace veil in the shape of a Spanish mantilla fell to elbow length. Large ruffled white chrysanthemums and yellow roses formed the bouquet. The bride's only jewelry was a string of pearls.

Miss Mary Clark, sister of the groom, and Miss Margaret Nelson, attended the bride, wearing identical green velvet dresses with headresses to match. They carried cascade bouquets of golden chrysanthemums.

BEST MAN

The groom's father, Mr. Sebert Clark, acted as best man for his son.

Ushers were Mr. Thomas Cave, brother of the bride, and Mr. Derek Gay.

After a reception at the South Saanich WI hall the newlyweds left for a honeymoon in San Francisco.

For her going away outfit the bride had made a two-piece suit of Wedgewood blue wool and wore navy accessories and a corsage of red roses.

to a minimum. Customers must thumb through clothes, hunt for their own sizes, and try on their selections in a community dressing room.

Celebrity hunters are apt to see Judy Holliday (once caught in pin curls in the dressing room), Polly Bergen, Betsy Palmer, and Mrs. Sid Caesar among the customers. Society matrons patronize the shop, and women from all parts of the country plan trips to New York to include shopping sprees at Bolton's.

"My customers mainly are women who won't pay full price for clothes," Mrs. Bolton said. "The average customers have husbands in the $50,000-a-year income bracket, but long before they heard of me, they bought either wholesale or shopped for sale merchandise."

Duchess of Bedford Files for Divorce

LONDON (AP) — The Duchess of Bedford Tuesday filed a divorce action against her husband, the 42-year-old duke who rates as one of England's gayest blue-bloods.

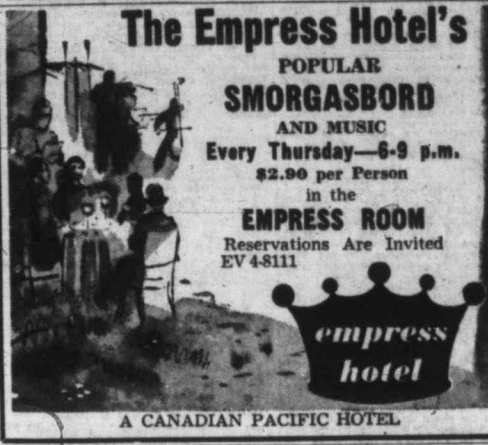

Rumors of a breakup in the marriage have been heard in London for some weeks, particularly since the duke took a continental holiday with French TV producer Nicole Millinair.

B.C. Approval Awaited, Says Chief Peace River Power 'Definitely Committed'

The Peace River Power Development Co. has already spent $5,200,000 in three years of exploration work in the Rocky Mountain Trench, company president W. C. Mainwaring told Victoria Kiwanis Club members yesterday.

"And we still have a great deal of work to do before we can even start construction," he said.

He said the comprehensive plan of development—a massive six volumes—will be submitted to A. F. Paget, com-

Angry Scott Quits Race

William A. Scott, still blazing angry at the "injustice" that bars him from running for city council, yesterday gave up his plan to file nomination papers anyway.

To file the papers, he said, he would be required to swear "that I am not in any way disqualified by law from holding the office of alderman—that has been added to the form—and in that case I would be committing perjury. It makes it absolutely impossible for me to run."

Mr. Scott will remain disqualified for another year as a result of his conviction four years ago of assaulting an Oak Bay wiring inspector. He was convicted of the assault as an indictable offence, which disqualified him, but maintains he shouldn't have been.

"I will say there's a serious defect in a law which makes a man who makes a mere scratch a criminal, as opposed to a man who smashes a bottle in someone's face," he said yesterday.

and Secretary.

troller of water rights in Victoria, before the Dec. 31 deadline.

"The project is completely feasible and it has been found possible to transmit electricity to the Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island at attractive rates," he said.

"We are going to give a definite commitment for the development of power on the Peace River."

Mr. Mainwaring said Peace River power will be sold at attractive rates—equal to or lower than existing B.C. Electric rates—on the lower mainland and Vancouver Island.

RANGES IN WAY

He compared cost of transmission from the Peace with the high cost of transmission from a Columbia River development because such a line would pass over three mountain ranges between the Columbia River and Vancouver.

"We are planning to deliver the first power to the lower mainland by 1968. There will be four generators to produce 800,000 horsepower and that first-stage construction will cost $375,000,000," Mr. Mainwaring said.

Total cost of the 4,000,000-horsepower project will be $625,000,000.

LOT OF MONEY

"That is a lot of money, but we are prepared to proceed with development immediately, if we get the approval of the provincial government," he said.

He said British Columbia is the most favored part of North America for hydro power.

It is "remarkable how close the Fraser, Columbia and Peace are together. . . It will be possible in the future to connect these three rivers electrically and hydraulically," he said.

TREBLE ESTIMATES

"When these three rivers are connected hydro estimates will be doubled or trebled," he said. "There is now 30,000,000 to 35,000,000 horsepower undeveloped in B.C. I am sure when new techniques are developed it will be 50,000,000 horsepower in B.C. rivers."

THE SURVEY DOES NOT COVER
the Communist world.

A significant part of the expansion in grain production was in exporting countries but the volume of trade showed no proportionate increase.
This was reflected in accumulating surpluses.

The record volume of exports of wheat and barley in 1956 was not maintained.
Shipments of rice also fell but exports of corn showed an upward trend.

With ample supplies of grain available, the downward trend of world prices continued during 1957-58, average seasonal prices for most grains being the lowest since the Second World War.

Production of corn also continued to rise and rice, oats and barley were recovering, the review adds.

The U.S. had a record wheat harvest while Australia had good harvests of both wheat and coarse grain. India had a good rice crop and Commonwealth grain generally showed some recovery after a fall the previous season.

Immigrant's Painting
A Copy, Says Priest

NAPLES, Italy (UPI)—A priest-archaeologist claimed Monday that one of 10 alleged masterpieces discovered in the home of an Italian emigrant in California was merely a copy of a painting in a Naples gallery.

Rev. Antonio Bellucci, a member of the Pontifical Roman Archaeological Academy, said the copy was what Prof.
Alexander Zlatoff, Mirsky of the Chicago Art Museum had described as the "lost masterpiece" of Michelangelo da Caravaggio with an estimated value of $1,500,000.

Father Bellucci said after seeing photographs of the California painting that he believed it was merely a copy of a painting which has been in the gallery of an order of friars in Naples for 300 years.

Even the original, he said, is not by Caravaggio.

Suit Filed
By Hearst

WASHINGTON (AP)—
Hearst Consolidated Publications Inc. Tuesday filed a $6-000,000 damage suit against the American Newspaper Guild alleging the guild circulated libelous and injurious falsehoods involving the New York Journal-American.

The suit was based on a story in the Oct. 23 issue of the Guild Reporter and a press release in which the guild said it had urged the justice department to investigate whether there was an agreement between Hearst and Scripps-Howard to divide the U.S. newspaper market.

cashier of the Sheraton-Mount escaped with $9,000.

Hotel officials said the two men entered the busy lobby, while guests were checking in and out, and asked directions to the chief cashier's office, one cent from 344,124 a year ago,

British and European-made than 20 per cent of the total.

Their sales numbered 92,321

Total retail value of all

Gamblers Line Up Baccarat Players On Win Streak

LAS VEGAS (UPI)—Management of the Sands Hotel wondered yesterday when a costly winning streak by gamblers playing the newly introduced card game of baccarat would let up.

Hopeful bettors were still lined up two and three deep last night waiting to get a crack at the fast-moving game played by 12 players each making minimum bets of $20 up to $1,500.

BLACKJACK

The hotel introduced the blackjack-like game at midnight Sunday and attracted a flock of all-night gamblers who had taken the house for $251,000 by 5 a.m.

An estimated 700 gamblers sat at the 12 player seats during the first 36 hours as word spread of the winning streak being enjoyed by gamblers in the first legal baccarat game in the United States.

DOUBLED

Business at the hotel was reported doubled, with gamblers trying their hands at other games while waiting to sit down at the one baccarat table.

The game, originated in Greece, is similar to blackjack, only the winning total can be either eight or nine instead of 21. Six or eight decks of cards are used and each player withdraws his own cards from a mechanical "shoe" and plays against a house "dealer." The house furnishes the bank.

$1,200 AHEAD

One chorus girl was reported to have laid down the minimum bet of $20 and shortly thereafter walked away with about $1,200, and an unidentified Texan was said to have walked away with $172,000 after five hours of play.

She gets $122.50 a month from the Victoria welfare de-

She has a struggle to make it go around, but manages to keep the family tidy and adequately fed by getting the occasional baby-sitting job, although a woman with a four-year-old youngster is limited in how much extra she can

This brave little family is managing to live and keep up appearances, but the mother dreads the coming of Christmas because she can see no possibility of getting her children any little extras from her meagre income.

She is one of the 500 needy persons who will get a cheque from the Colonist 500 Christmas fund and she will be able to spend it just as she wishes. There is no doubt it will be spent to provide a merry Christmas spirit in a home

Donations should be brought to The Daily Colonist offices at 2631 Douglas Street or 1215 Broad Street, or mailed to "The 500 Fund, The Daily Colonist, 2631 Douglas Street, Victoria."

Finance All School Building Duncan Chamber Urges B.C.

DUNCAN—The Chamber of Commerce has approved a motion by a member calling on the government to finance school construction.

It called for a revolving fund set up and maintained by the government, from which money could be borrowed and paid back at the present cost-sharing rate of 50 per cent.

The chamber's resolution will be sent to the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island for support.

Past-president Will Dobson who brought in the proposal said the new fund is needed "in order that the vagaries of the money market shall not prove a hazard to the provision of necessary and vital educational facilities."

It was passed after school district 65 (Cowichan) trustee Wilf Peck, said the present financing system is 20 years behind the times. He said attempts by the Union of B.C. Municipalities and the B.C. School Trustees Association had failed to have a complete government study of the situation.

Mr. Peck said the government is only paying 50 per cent of teachers' salaries, based on 1957 scales, and that the $2-per-pupil per-year given to districts is not enough to provide the curriculum expected by the department of education.

Up Slightly

622 Jobless Listed At Duncan

DUNCAN — Unemployment in November has increased slightly over October but it is still lower than last year, the monthly National Employment Service report shows.

Registered at the local office now are 465 men and 157 women—three men and 14 women more than October.

The figures are 99 men and four women lower than the November, 1958, unemployment figures.

The good employment situation is believed to be because snow has not stopped logging operations very much in the mountains.

Job Picture Brighter In Nanaimo

NANAIMO—The area's employment picture this week looks brighter than 12 months ago.

Only 642 men and 245 women are registered for employment with the National Employment Service branch, compared to 849 men and 314 women last year.

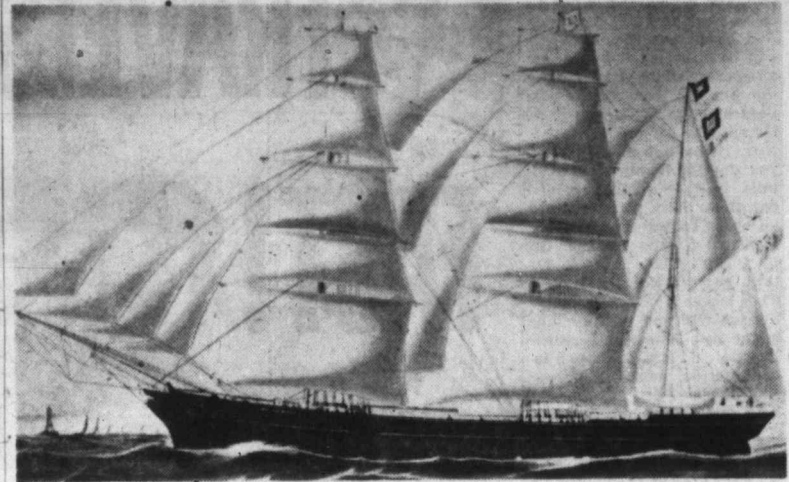

Loggers are being snapped up either locally or in other areas.

Comox logging company has employed the highest number of men in the woods for five years. There are 528 men working for the company at present.

Port Alberni Ratifies Work Plan

PORT ALBERNI — Council has ratified a program of work for which provincial and federal government winter employment incentive grants will be sought.

Details outlined by Ald. Jack Perry cover the cleaning of Bainbridge Lake, to employ six men for two months; building a sidewalk on the west side of Tenth Avenue, three men for one month; improvements of the sewer outfall at the foot of Argyle Street, six men for one month; improvement of Fifth Avenue Park, four men for four weeks; construction of the south end sewer, three men for three months.

Rite to Recall Pioneers' Arrival

A special service to commemorate the arrival of the sailing ship Princess Royal at Nanaimo 105 years ago with pioneer families will be conducted at Pioneer Rock at 11 a.m. Friday by Rev. Chris Jack. The ship carried 24 of Nanaimo's first families from the United Kingdom in 1854.

Duncan Courtroom Parade

Third Conviction Costs $30

DUNCAN — Douglas Cave, 18, of Chemainus, was fined $30 and had his driving licence suspended for 30 days yesterday when he pleaded guilty in police court to a charge of careless driving.

He rolled his car Saturday on Somenos Road, on an s-curve, causing $300 worth of damage to it, Magistrate A. C. Sutton handed down the suspension when Cave admitted it was his third traffic conviction this year.

Cave admitted driving at 70 mph. Police said the accident occurred in a 30 mph zone.

In other cases, J. W. L. King of Victoria was fined $25 when he pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving.

V. R. White, also of Victoria, was fined $20 for speeding at 70 in a 60 mph zone.

A 17-year-old Patricia Bay juvenile was fined $5 for driving a car without insurance.

Held First Meeting

Saucer Spotters Alert in Duncan

DUNCAN — Saucer-spotters are keeping their eyes peeled for unidentified flying objects in this district, it was disclosed yesterday.

The special saucer-spotters are members of the UFO research group, which held its first meeting Saturday night.

A request that they watch for saucers came from an English UFO group. A letter from England said the two most active times in the sky seem to be during July, late November and early December.

Dates believed to be the most active this year are from Nov. 18 to Dec. 12.

Nothing has been reported to the group so far, said V. L. Stanley, Jones of Richards Trail, last night.

The group plans to hold a meeting Dec. 12 to correlate information from any reported sightings.

B.C. Misled Municipalities Nanaimo Alderman Says

NANAIMO — Ald. Bill McGregor pointed a finger at the provincial government yesterday and accused it of misleading municipalities.

He was referring to the government's offer to provide 25 per cent of the labor costs of persons receiving social assistance who were employed on authorized winter work projects.

Council had planned to put at least 50 of these men to work, but a municipal affairs department letter included the information that to qualify for the 25 per cent grant, municipalities must employ only those who have been in receipt of social assistance for three months prior to the announcement of the program.

This was on Sept. 16.

Magistrate A. C. Sutton warned Raymon R. Trellvik, 20, that he will recommend that Trellvik's licence be suspended by the superintendent of motor vehicles.

Trellvik had pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding between 60 and 65 mph Saturday on the Trans-Canada Highway when his driver's licence was restricted to a maximum speed of 45 mph.

The magistrate said the fisherman's licence was endorsed with convictions of driving without insurance, careless driving and speeding.

$2.50 Bonus For Needy In Nanaimo

NANAIMO — City aldermen have voted to give welfare families a $2.50 Christmas bonus in addition to the $5 provided by the B.C. government. Single persons will get an extra $1.

Educate Retarded Labor Tells B.C.

NANAIMO—Trade unionists will ask the provincial government to take full responsibility for the education of retarded children.

Nanaimo and District Labor Council president Stan Parker of Port Alberni said that the backward child should not have to rely on welfare for his education.

He was referring to a letter from the Alberni chapter of the B.C. Association for Retarded Children which asked labor's support in the current drive for funds.

The council named three men to draw up a brief for presentation to the provincial government—Alistair McLeod of Nanaimo, Mr. Parker and Stan Wilson of Alberni.

In other labor council news, delegates elected Len Randall second vice-president; they requested that the Canadian Congress include courses in civic administration in its weekend educational institutes.

Juvenile Problem

Condemnation Doesn't Help

NANAIMO—Criticism and condemnation of delinquent juveniles will not solve the problem, Rev. John Snowden said yesterday.

Assistant at St. Paul's Anglican Church, Rev. Snowden was addressing Nanaimo Kiwanis Club.

He pointed out that the average of inmates in provincial and federal prisons was around 22 and juvenile atrocities were on the increase.

"Many of the critics are justified, but they are solving nothing," he said.

The problem can be solved only by encouraging the qualities of young peoples, and correcting their difficulties.

A greater interest in youth activities by service clubs would help, he said. Aid usually stops cash donations.

Tin Miners Don't Get Pimples

Because Cornish tin miners appeared to avoid skin blemishes, British chemists suggested the use of tin in treating Bells, Acne, Pimples.

Now convenient, tasteless tablets containing 42.5% metallic tin are available under the brand name "Tinoid." Rapid, satisfactory results are claimed for this inexpensive treatment.

Tinoid Tablets are sold without prescription at all drug stores, $1.00.

Just about the nicest gift any husband ever thought of

And just about the nicest gift any wife or family ever received. It's different, exciting and its pleasure increases every day. And it's so easy to give an extension phone. You can pick up a gift-boxed phone at the Telephone Company, already to put under the tree. Or, for Christmas secrecy, have it delivered to your office. The extension phone will be installed, free of charge, shortly after Christmas.

How to give an Extension Phone for Christmas:

The only charge is for regular telephone service, each month — $1.25 (free installation). One of the attractive features of this gift of service is that you may give it for as long a period as you wish. Many people give it for 1 year. This would come to $15.00. You may pre-pay this or have the $1.25 added to your own telephone bill each month. An especially lovely gift is a coloured extension phone. To give this, there is an additional one-time charge of $12.00. This may also be paid by installment charges on your own telephone bill.

Christmas 'Shoppers Special' May Grow into Permanent Downtown Bus Loop

A year round "shoppers special" bus route in downtown Victoria may grow out of a Christmas season transit service which a group of city merchants decided to underwrite yesterday.

"If public response to the Christmas shoppers' bus is good enough it might well pave the way for a permanent loop service in the shopping district," Victoria Chamber of Commerce retail merchants group chairman Roy C. Denny said yesterday. He stated that such a service has been an outstanding success in at least one other North American city, Dallas, Texas.

The Christmas shopping bus will go into service Dec. 4 and will operate until the last shopping day before Christmas. Passengers will pay only five cents to board the bus for any destination along its route, which starts at Douglas and Herald, travels south on Douglas to Courtney, west on Courtney to Government and north on Government to Herald. A B.C. Electric bus will be specially decorated for the service. Eight major city retail stores have pledged up to $60 each to defray losses which the service is expected to incur. But a special committee headed by Hugh Francis will ask other downtown stores to contribute to the program. The bus will cover its route in 12 minutes and will operate continuously throughout most of the day.

May Hinge on Unorganized Vote

Fluoridation May Hit Snag

Water commissioner Ronald Upward expressed doubt yesterday that the Greater Victoria water supply could be fluoridated — even with strong approval from Greater Victoria municipalities — without a favorable vote from residents of the unorganized area served by the water district. The question, he said, probably will be discussed at a water board meeting Friday. "We're trying to straighten it out," Mr. Upward said. "If Greater Victoria municipalities vote for fluoridation, I think we still will have to conduct a vote in the unorganized area." And, he said, there is a question of time; if fluoridation is approved, and is to be started in 1960, provincial legislation must be sought at the session beginning at the end of January.

Municipalities already have power to fluoridate their water supplies if fluoridation is approved by 60 per cent of voters. "But we are not a municipal waterworks," Mr. Upward said, "so we will need a change in our legislation."

Suspects Face Charges Today

'Good Police Work' Cracks Burglary from Warehouse

Biggest Part Of Loot Recovered

Burly city policemen were busy yesterday transferring cases of cigarettes and a quantity of electrical appliances from police vehicles into city police headquarters for safekeeping.

These items represented almost 100 per cent of the loot stolen Friday evening from Vancouver Barge Transportation Ltd., 1112 Wharf.

AROUND CLOCK

Working almost around the clock since the break-in was reported early Saturday, city detectives late Monday found the trail that led to recovery of the stolen articles.

A fair portion of about $600 in cash and cheques, taken from a safe at the burgled premises, has also been recovered.

Yesterday, Chief Constable John Blackstock would not disclose how his men broke the case.

GOOD POLICE WORK

"Just call it good police work," he said. Men he mentioned as responsible for the "good work" were Dets. Gus Munro and Deans Blackstock, assisted by Dets. Alex Briggs, Dick Barry and Bill Andrews.

Chief Blackstock said the break-in occurred about 9 p.m. Friday. A stolen car was used to transport the bulky loot from the warehouse to an apartment in James Bay, where police recovered it. Rear seat of the car was removed for easier carrying of the goods, and it is believed at least two trips were required.

IN CITY COURT

Three suspects picked up by detectives in connection with the case, are scheduled to appear in city police court this morning.

Starvation Story Denied

'No Real Need' Among Indians

Federal officials and a missionary on the spot yesterday flatly denied reports that "hundreds" of Indians on the West Coast of Vancouver Island are near starvation.

Rev. Reginald Bennett at the Ahousat Indian mission run by the United Church of Canada told the Colonist: "I don't know of any real need."

"Our natives here are about as hard up as any... and those that are in need are getting regular relief."

The village at Ahousat with its 500 inhabitants is the largest Indian community on the west coast of the Island.

In Vancouver, W. S. Arnell, Indian commissioner for B.C., said the reports were untrue.

"There are no Indians on the West Coast starving," said Mr. Arnell. "We are aware that the Indians had a poor fishing season and relief is being provided."

The commissioner said his department would nevertheless be investigating reports by fisherman Alec Anderson who said in Victoria yesterday that Indian families are so destitute they have been reduced to eating clams and dried bread as a steady diet.

Mr. Anderson, en route from West Coast fishing grounds to his Vancouver home, appealed to Victorians to help those who are going hungry.

"He may well say that people are living on bread and clams," said Mr. Bennett. "That's what a lot of them like to eat."

Meanwhile, at the Indian inspector's office at Alberni a spokesman said so far as he knew there was no basis for claims that some Indians were near starvation.

"We know they had a bad fishing season," the spokesman said. "But where we learn that there is need relief is issued."

He added that relief is issued regularly by the month to needy Indians. He could not say how many now are getting such relief.

Nanaimo Budget Tops $2,000,000

NANAIMO — City council has brought down a proposed $2,130,000 1960 budget. This is the first time that the budget has gone over the $2,000,000 mark. Five years ago, it amounted to less than $1,000,000. The budget will be for the guidance of the incoming city council.

So far, it appears that the same group will administer city affairs next year. Mayor Pete Maffeo, Ald. Haig Burns, Ald. John Cook and Ald. Bill McGregor have all said they will run for re-election Dec. 17. So far, there are no new contenders for the election, but Nanaimo and District Labor Council may sponsor a union-backed candidate. City council already has two Labor-sponsored aldermen.

PORT ALBERNI — The corporation plans to invest $30,000 in its own local improvement debentures.

At council meeting Monday night two local improvement bylaws were introduced and given first reading. The first represents $56,500 to pay for sidewalks, sewers, and drains, to be financed over a 10-year period, and the second, for $11,500, covers street widening and lanes and is in five-year bonds.

City clerk H. D. Thain explained that the intention is to buy all the five-year issue and $18,500 of the longer term bonds from a revolving fund set up by the corporation last year.

Revenue from tax sale lands was placed in the fund with the idea that the city will eventually be able to finance all its own local improvement projects, saving interest charges.

TOFINO — An aerial survey of Tofino Inlet by provincial game department officials has disclosed the presence of 8,500 geese and 30,000 ducks, principally mallards, wigeon and teal.

The ducks winter there, but for the majority of the geese it is merely a stopping place on the long migration from the Alaskan breeding grounds.

They remain on Tofino Inlet for several weeks, feeding on eel grass, then continue their flight to winter quarters in Southern California.

About 2,000 geese will remain at Tofino Inlet all winter, feeding on eel grass.

DUNCAN — Seventeen-year-old Judy Meynell, a First Cowichan Guide, has been awarded the gold cord, highest award a Canadian Guide can win.

The boys won the badges through their activities with the Chemainus soccer team. Games were held during the evening. The honor plaque was won by the Green six with the Red six only four points behind.

In the early years of CD the training was only made available to residents of large cities. Mr. Snider said, but as the course includes home nursing, first aid and communications, it was extended to include residents of smaller centres.

ALBERNI — The city's $565,000 sewerage construction bylaw was introduced at a special council meeting Monday night and was processed, ready for submission to the provincial department of municipal affairs.

Council is asking the provincial government to guarantee the proposed debt. Approval has already been granted for the self-liquidating plan which would retire the debt in 20 years and the provincial health officer has approved the plan for a system which would serve over 80 per cent of the homes and commercial properties in the city.

The money bylaw will be placed before the voters Dec. 17 if government approval is received. Plans are to commence work on the project when conditions on the bond market are advantageous.

The sewer system, first for the city, is planned to serve three main areas of the city. A pumping station at a site on Kitsukis Creek is in the plan, and arrangements have been made for joint use of the disposal lagoon on Somass Flats with Port Alberni.

The bylaw provides for the sale of debentures with interest not exceeding seven per cent and in denominations of not less than $1,000. It also provides for the levying of rates if revenue from the utility at any time fails to cover payment of debt and interest. A schedule of payment has been worked out at $47,500 per year. The city's debt now amounts to $624,000.

Colwood Fire Not Serious

All Colwood volunteer firemen were called to duty last night after a fire was reported in a five-room caretaker's house on the old Pendray estate near Esquimalt Lagoon.

The cottage is on the grounds of 3221 Pendray, and is occupied by Leonard Montgomery.

Yarrows Plans Big Expansion

Yarrows Ltd. is expanding its facilities to build bigger ships, "as a measure of faith in the future of shipbuilding on the west coast," general manager John Wallace announced last night.

Work has already started on the $162,000 project—a new building berth which will accommodate vessels up to 350 feet long with a 60-foot beam.

The new facilities will enable local yards to build hulls which were formerly subcontracted to the parent company, Burrard Dry Dock Co. Ltd. in North Vancouver, because Yarrows could not accommodate them.

A 35-ton travelling crane, recently purchased in California, will operate between the new building berth and the fabricating skids alongside.

Announcement of the new project comes at a time when west coast yards are hard-pressed to find new contracts to keep together their skilled workers.

"This will give us complete facilities, it will make our operation more efficient," said Mr. Wallace.

"I don't know what we're going to build... but I feel certain that there is a future for shipbuilding in western Canada."

J. A. Pollard, head of Pollard Construction which was awarded the general contract, said last night the job will take between four and five months to complete, with about 30 men employed at the peak periods.

William Patterson, Jr., 6021 West Saanich Road, was crete enclosure, a bronze points-of-interest indicator and better access—is $2,500. The committee also voted to ask for Junior Chamber of Commerce approval of a list of work bringing total expenditure on the new dressing rooms and comfort station and associated improvements at Elk Lake to $25,000.

The accident occurred at 7:25 p.m. near the Claremont Avenue intersection, where the driver lost control of the northbound car and struck a ditch two feet deep, police said.

One Brave Family Has a Happy 500 Fund Surprise Coming

A 36-year-old woman was deserted by her husband three years ago.

She has three children, 4 to 12, to keep and they live in the upper part of a duplex she rents at $55 a month, plus light and heat.

She gets $122.50 a month from the Victoria welfare department and a family allowance of $22 a month.

She has a struggle to make it go around, but manages to keep the family tidy and adequately fed by getting the occasional baby-sitting job, although a woman with a four-year-old youngster is limited in how much extra she can do. The 12-year-old boy has a paper route.

This brave little family is managing to live and keep up appearances, but the mother dreads the coming of Christmas because she can see no possibility of getting her children any little extras from her meagre income. But, she has a happy surprise coming, thanks to the generous readers of The Daily Colonist.

She is one of the 500 needy persons who will get a cheque from the Colonist 500 Christmas fund and she will be able to spend it just as she wishes. There is no doubt it will be spent to provide a merry Christmas spirit in a home that otherwise would be bleaker than usual on Christmas morning.

Donations should be brought to The Daily Colonist offices at 2631 Douglas Street or 1215 Broad Street, or mailed to "The 500 Fund, The Daily Colonist, 2631 Douglas Street, Victoria."

List of donors will be published each day.

RIVER PILOTS TIE UP PORT

Fraser Strike Begins

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — A wildcat strike of Fraser River pilots tied up the port of New Westminster at noon yesterday.

Cargoes worth tens of thousands of dollars, ships, longshoremen and shippers are affected by the strike, called by the seven pilots in a dispute with the department of transport over the operation of the pilot boat.

Harbor master Capt. John Clayton said two vessels have been prevented from sailing while two more cannot enter port. Three more ships were expected to be affected later today.

The pilots refused to make a statement except to say they are not on strike.

But a spokesman for the pilotage authority said the men have a "genuine beef."

AGRICULTURE MINISTER
NEWTON STEACY

B.C. Plea:

Curb U.S. Fruit

OTTAWA (CP) — British Columbia Tuesday demanded federal government action to protect its fruit and vegetable industries against low-priced imports from the United States.

B.C. also called for protection against imports of New Zealand lamb and mutton to be sold at prices far below locally produced meats.

Agriculture Minister Newton P. Steacy of B.C., at a meeting with federal Agriculture Minister Harkness, presented a brief urging immediate implementation of special duties, CUSTOMS AT

The brief also asked that the Customs Act be amended. "While the horticultural industry in British Columbia feels that some tariff rates . . . are inadequate, they feel that the real solution lies in securing protection against distress sales which have been quite common during the past six or seven years."

The brief said the Customs Act has the force needed to protect crops of prunes, apricots and processed tomatoes and should be proclaimed immediately.

SERIOUS RESULTS

"Serious and disastrous results have occurred . . . where perishable agricultural products are concerned," it said.

"Nearly all our British Columbia tomato canneries in the interior of the province have been closed due to U.S. imports. Tomato production has ceased to a large degree."

The B.C. minister said in his brief that he realized there would be fear of reprisal from the U.S., but he had discussed this with horticultural organizations in the province and they saw no reason for such fear.

The B.C. organizations had discussed the situation with horticultural associations on the U.S. west coast and had been assured there would be no opposition to such a Canadian move.

Aside from fruits and vegetables, the brief said B.C. also was faced by the importation of New Zealand lamb and mutton sold at prices lower than B.C. prices. "This is causing great concern and already many of our sheep men are considering going out of business."

Little Old Lady Foils Bank Robber's Bid

VANCOUVER (CP) — A diminutive, elderly woman Tuesday was credited with foiling the first bank holdup here in 14 months.

Wayne King Bach, 22, was arrested in a downtown branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada after the woman customer, who said she did not want to be identified to avoid publicity, quietly told the manager that the man was holding up a teller.

She was in the bank when the man came in and got in line behind her at a teller's cage. As she moved away, the man stepped forward and pushed a brown paper bag toward teller Mrs. Helen Clark. "Fill the bag. There's a gun on you," was printed on the bag.

Mrs. Clark took $583 in bills out of her cash drawer and pushed them and the bag toward the man.

Manager H. I. Jeffrey grabbed the man from behind and held him until police arrived.
